BATTLE ON SKIS; FINNS WIN

Finds 37,000 on State Pay Rolls

REP. LUND DIGS WASTE CHARGE OUT OF RECORDS

Hits Mounting Cost of Horner Regime.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

There are more than 37,000 state pay rollers in Illinois. This was announced yesterday by Representative Arnold L. Lund [R., Riverside], his disclosure ending years of conjecture as to the total number of employés. Lund said it is the first time during any state administration that a figure on the pay rollers has been obtained and made public.

Rep. A. L. Lund.

Of the 37,216 persons compensated by the state during 1938 [the most recent record], 26,547 received more than $600. Those who received lesser amounts were mostly persons who drew pay for short periods of time only, Lund said.

21,565 Not Under Civil Service.

These figures make it possible to ascertain the number of pay rollers not under civil service. According to the civil service commission, there are 12,651 certified civil service employés in Illinois and another 3,000 persons classified as coming under civil service but who have not been examined and certified. This means that 21,565 state servants, including 10,896 of those getting $600 or more, are not under civil service.

Lund, a leading advocate of economy in state government, sought the pay roll information for his study of finances of the Horner administration. First he corresponded with state officials. Lund said they informed him they didn't have it. Then Lund went to Springfield.

Decides to Count Names.

He decided, he said, that the only course was to count the names in the state auditor's record of disbursements for services.

State Senator Earl B. Searcy [R., Springfield] gave Lund the services of two clerks for the job. Together they leafed thru the 1,953 pages of names and counted the number in each income class.

"The book was not available on my first day's visit to the auditor's office," Lund said. "The chief clerk told me it was being used by Democratic county chairmen. All the information is arranged by counties so that these politicians can easily find out who got how much, so that each recipient can be called upon to deliver for the Democrats in 1940.

Offers Revenue Figures.

Lund estimated that on the basis of appropriations, the 1939 pay roll record will show a 10 per cent increase over 1938, which would result in a total of 40,000 employés for the year just ended. The 1939 record will not be ready for about a month, he said.

"It would be a big job to get the figures for each year back to 1929, when the law requiring the record was passed," Lund said. "But I have no hesitancy in saying that Mr. Horner's 37,000 pay rollers outnumber those of any other governor in Illinois' history."

Lund prepared figures which he declared explode the Horner administration's defense of larger taxes—that they are used for relief and old age assistance. His first tabulation compares tax revenues of the last fiscal year with the fiscal year ended June 30, 1933 [Gov. Horner took office in 1933]. This tabulation follows:

Tax.	Year ended June 30, '39.	Year ended June 30, '33.
Property tax	.....	$21,435,000
Sales tax [R.O.T.]	$1,516,000	.....
Public utility tax.	9,202,000	.....
Motor fuel tax.....	41,024,000	30,350,000
Motor vehicle tax..	23,493,000	16,532,000
Liquor revenue, beverage licenses.	11,339,000	230,000
Inheritance tax ...	5,636,000	7,784,000
Ill. Cent. R. R. tax.	2,542,000	706,000
Other revenue [not including federal portion of old age assistance funds].	27,557,680	17,110,870
Total	$202,309,680	$94,147,870

On the basis of this table, the state

Goon Slugging Victim Tells of Union Terror

State's Attorney Courtney's police yesterday were investigating the report of two other labor sluggings attributed to two union officials who were arrested Saturday after a brutal attack on a butcher shop employé.

The butcher's helper, Louis Mikolajczyk, 51 years old, told of the other attacks. And he told police that he had been terrorized for a year by union agents. He said they had refused to help him find a job, and had hounded him whenever he found a little extra work to obtain food for his family of six children.

Accused as his assailants are Joseph Kopsky, 1845 23d place, and Henry Hlavacek, 1533 South Cuyler avenue, Berwyn. They are business agents for local 638 of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

Two Victims Sought.

Mikolajczyk told Capt. Daniel Gilbert and Lieut. Thomas Kelly that the agents slugged a nonunion worker three weeks ago in a butcher shop near 27th street and Millard avenue.

Mikolajczyk told of another unreported labor slugging a year ago. He said the two agents beat a butcher worker so severely that their victim was sent to a hospital. Lieut. Kelly began a search for the two victims.

The attack on Mikolajczyk, who lives at 3036 Cullerton avenue, occurred in John Matuesek's butcher shop at 3710 West 26th street. Mikolajczyk said he occasionally was given food there in return for work.

He said the union agents threatened to call Matuesek's butcher out on strike if Mikolajczyk were employed. Then, he added, they began cursing him and Kopsky used a gun as a blackjack.

Tells of Quest for Work.

"Two years ago," he said, "the butcher I worked for went out of business. Since then I have tried to find work.

"I had been with the union 10 years, and they gave me a withdrawal card, which meant I didn't have to pay dues. Whenever I went to the union office at 3844 26th street they chased me out.

"They said they wouldn't help me find work until I paid $10 back dues, but when I offered to get the money they kicked me out."

Mikolajczyk said that business agents for the union get $10 for every new member they obtain. For this reason, he said, they have no interest in helping older union men find work.

Lieut. Kelly said the two business agents and other officials of the union will be questioned in the state's attorney's office today. He said that a revolver found in the home of Hlavacek will be subjected to a ballistics test.

Hlavacek and Kopsky appeared at the detective bureau showup of suspected criminals yesterday and were held without booking last night.

The first substantial snowfall of the winter blanketed Chicago with two and half inches of snow yesterday. Occasional light snow thru the night and perhaps today may add another half inch to the depth, according to C. A. Donnel, weather forecaster. The temperature today will be in the middle 20's.

About 80 per cent of the nation was covered with snow, which missed only the Pacific coast and the extreme south. The snow reached a depth of from four inches to more than a foot in other parts of the midwest, and was from six to eight inches deep in central Illinois. Chicago city departments said there was no interference with traffic, except from slippery streets.

GOAL OF CAA IS 40,000 PILOTS BY NEXT AUGUST

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7 [Special].—A prediction that there will be 40,000 certified civilian pilots in the United States at the end of August was made today by the Civil Aeronautics authority in its first annual report to congress.

The authority said the pilot training program already had created a demand for civil aircraft, engines, and accessories as well as maintenance and operations services.

As of Oct. 31, the report discloses, there were 27,691 holders of student pilot certificates and 29,513 holders of pilot certificates of higher grades.

The report urged congress to make direct appropriations for airport projects, citing the rapid development of commercial aviation and the "growing concern of our military officials over the adequacy" of existing airports for defense purposes.

Several weeks ago Policeman Martin Madden, who is known as the strongest man in the Englewood district, made three wishes.

"It has been 12 years since I was off on my birthday," he said. "I wish to be off on Jan. 6. I wish somebody would give me a party, and I want a big cake with 51 candles on it."

Well, Madden was off, and this is what happened:

His daughter, Miss Irene Madden, and her fiancé, Matthew Walsh of 7646 South Morgan street, purchased the cake. It was a magnificent cake, with the figure of a policeman rampant upon it. They also purchased a ham and many other delectables dear to Madden's big warm heart.

The Surprise Is Held Off.

Then, to hold off the surprise, they left all the edibles in Walsh's car and parked it in the rear of 6336 South Green street. Madden lives at 6925 South Bishop street.

Party time came and the couple went to the car. With them was Policeman Patrick Neary. The car was bare. Everything was gone. But Neary saw a figure moving down the alley and soon was in chase.

He won his race. The thief, a colored man named Charles McDonald, of 4525 Michigan avenue, was exhausted by carrying the 14 pound ham and the 16 pound cake and gave up. Neary took him and his loot to the Englewood station.

He Makes a Complaint.

Miss Madden and Walsh meanwhile had told Policeman Madden of the disappearance of the party provender. He went straight to the station to make a complaint. His brother policemen showed him the ham and everything else but the cake.

"And where," he demanded, "might be that huge confection with room on it for 51 candles?"

"It was mashed by the thief," said the desk sergeant, "and so we had to eat it. Happy birthday to ye, Madden."

BRITAIN GOES ON FOOD RATIONING SYSTEM TODAY

Sugar, Butter, Bacon and Ham Affected.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Pictures on page 2.)

LONDON, Jan. 7.—Having paid the first instalment of the 35 per cent wartime income tax, given up its cars, and cut down consumption generally because of soaring costs and lack of gasoline, the British public tomorrow starts another era of compulsory food rationing. It is 20 years since ration books were last abolished.

W. S. Morrison.

Coupon clipping for sugar, butter, bacon, and ham again will be enforced.

Under a policy of "guns instead of butter," no one in Britain will be entitled to more than 4 ounces of butter and 12 ounces of sugar weekly.

Expected Ration Is Cut.

Housewives who had expected to get four ounces of cooked bacon or ham for each member of their families more than 6 years old will find tomorrow that W. S. Morrison, minister of food and big boss of the rationing system, has carved a slice from the original allowance. The four ounce ration, it is announced, will apply only to raw meat. The ration for bacon and cooked ham will be only three and a half ounces weekly

Few families will be able to buy uncooked ham since grocers rarely sell less than four pounds, which is the allowance for a family of 16.

Sandwiches Go Uncurbed.

Morrison decreed that persons who eat bacon and ham in restaurants or clubs, or buy sandwiches at coffee bars, buffets, and pubs will not be forced to give up coupons. Moreover they may eat the sandwiches off the premises.

With restaurant or canteen meals, a customer will get a pat of butter equivalent to one-sixth of an ounce, and one-seventh of an ounce of sugar for his tea or coffee without having a coupon clipped. This concession is experimental and any abuse, the food ministry warns, will result in withdrawal of the privilege. Similarly, caterers will have their supplies of bacon and ham restricted and neither is likely to figure as daily or frequent items on menus.

Margarine Supply Is Short.

Morrison, in a radio talk on the eve of rationing day, stressed the need to conserve Britain's money resources and shipping space for the purchase and transport of war munitions.

He claimed that Britain is not suffering a food shortage and that rationing is aimed to avoid queues, a feature of the home front in the last war, but this is not borne out by reports from traders. Despite the minister's reassuring statements, the supply of margarine as a substitute for butter is far below the demand.

Many manufacturers complain that they cannot get enough oils and fats to meet orders from retailers. Butter supplies have been cut by more than half since the war began.

Register for Meat Ration.

Tomorrow, already popularly dubbed "coupon Monday," is the last day in which the public will be allowed to register with butchers for meat rations. Indications are that meat will be doled out on a value basis, starting at the end of February or early in March, and that supplies will be standardized in three or four grades. Consumers probably will get about 12 ounces weekly of the best grades and up to 20 ounces of the cheaper cuts.

It was revealed tonight that a shortage of fresh meat is likely when the meat and live stock slaughter scheme, under which the government will take over all slaughter and distribution, comes into operation on Jan. 15, a week from tomorrow.

The food minister has decided that all slaughtering of live stock for food shall cease thruout the country from midnight Sunday, and that slaughtering under the government scheme shall not begin until after midnight on Monday. Fresh meat will not be available for two days, it appears.

Forty-five million ration books have been issued to the public by the ministry and there are indications that Britain's diet is changing under wartime stringency. Cereals and herrings figure more in breakfasts,

British Liner Strikes Mine; Towed to Port

LONDON, Jan. 7 (AP).—Renewed activity in the war at sea after a period of comparative calm became evident today with the reports of additional disasters.

The 8,317 ton British passenger liner City of Marseilles was towed into port after striking a mine off the east Scottish coast and being badly holed amidships. One seaman was killed and 13 injured.

The British steamship Townley, 2,888 tons, sank off the southeast coast of England after striking a mine. Her crew was saved.

[The New York Maritime Register yesterday carried a report from Rotterdam, the Netherlands, that a French merchant vessel, the Loire, had become a victim of the sea war. The Register also carried a dispatch from London saying that the 3,829 ton British freighter Eskdene, reported sunk by a mine Dec. 4, had remained afloat and had been safely beached for salvage.]

Trawler Sinks; 17 Lost.

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 7 (AP).—The entire crew of 17 men on the 449 ton British trawler Kingston Cornelian was lost Jan. 5 when the ship collided with the 8,920 ton French liner Chella in the Strait of Gibraltar. The Chella, which was damaged, lowered boats but failed to find any survivors.

German Master Changes Mind.

RIO GRANDE DO SUL, Brazil, Jan. 7 (AP)—The master of the 6,062 ton German freighter Rio Grande changed his mind today about daring the British and French blockade. The ship returned to this port which she had left last night with a full load of grain for Europe.

Nazis Try Vast Scheme to Help War Families

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—Germany is attempting to provide the families of conscripts serving with the German armed forces with almost the same income as they had before the war began. The experiment is on a gigantic scale and is unparalleled in the history of war. No official figures regarding the strength of the German armed forces are available, but it is assumed they include 4,000,000 men, if not more.

A great part of these men are married. Most of them earned small or medium size incomes and their families now are drawing state support amounting to about 80 per cent of their peacetime incomes.

"Social Justice in Wartime."

Undoubtedly the German revolution in 1918, which brought about the collapse of the German empire, is partly responsible for Nazi Germany's attempt at "social justice in wartime"—a Nazi phraseology—to prevent a repetition of the social upheaval which paralyzed German fighting forces in 1918.

In the world war, Nazis argue, workers employed at home in industry drew comparatively high wages while soldiers in the front lines were drawing only meager pay, hardly sufficient for beer and tobacco. Their families received only small doles from the state.

On the other hand, a civil servant who joined the army in the world war as a reserve officer not only continued to draw his full salary as an official but also received, in accord-

BREAK UP REDS' DRIVE TO FLANK FRONT IN NORTH

Russians Leave 300 Dead on Field.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 7.—Three hundred Russians were left dead on the field after the first battle between Finnish and soviet detachments using skis, the Finnish staff communique announced tonight.

Near Salla above the Arctic circle, the Finns caught two companies of Russians trying to outflank them, the communique reported. During the battle, which was short and furious, the Finns captured fourteen machine guns and much other booty.

On the Petsamo front near the Arctic ocean, the Russians also made an attack south of Salmijarvi, but were repulsed.

On the other fronts, the communique said, "there was lively and effective patrol activity by our forces."

Digging In on Isthmus.

On the Karelian front the Russians, after vainly attempting to crack Finland's Mannerheim line, "have begun digging in and have set up barbed wire entanglements before their positions to strengthen them," the communique said. Russian attacks also were repulsed on the Karelian isthmus.

"At sea, ice has limited the Russians' activity to attempts to prevent merchant shipping from entering or leaving our ports and to guarding their own sea communications." There was some activity by Finnish coastal batteries at Koivisto and on Lake Ladoga.

Twelve Russian war planes were shot down yesterday—20 in two days—by Finnish flyers and antiaircraft fire. Slight damage, the death of one person and injury of several others were the only result of the Russian attacks.

Leningrad's position is becoming precarious, according to the communique. Finnish flyers have been active and the soviet city where the bolshevik revolution began in 1917 is having difficulty in maintaining its railroad communications with the rest of Russia.

Two Towns Bombed.

Two air alarms were sounded today at Turku [Abo], in southwestern Finland, but there were no reports of attacks. Lahti and Kuopio were bombed by Russian planes.

Temperatures of 15 to 40 below zero, Fahrenheit, were slowing up the Russians and aiding the Finns on land and freezing up the eastern Gulf of Finland.

The chief theater of the war has been transferred from the Karelian isthmus to the area northeast of Lake Ladoga. The communique said Finnish forces had improved their position there and "at Aittajoki the enemy launched an attack. The attack was thrown back and one tank was destroyed."

However, the Leningrad radio broadcast tonight said the Russians are fighting the Finns in the neighborhood of Petrozavodsk. This is considerably farther east of the Aittajoki sector.

Finnish formations, using skis, have crossed nearly 100 miles of wilderness which lies between Lake Ladoga and Lake Onega, the two largest lakes in Europe.

Threaten Major Towns.

These Finnish units now threaten Petrozavodsk, the second important station on the Leningrad-Murmansk railroad. The first important station is Volkhovstroi, where there is the third largest hydro-electric plant in Russia.

The isthmus between these two great lakes may soon become the second isthmus front where the Finns will oppose the Red army. Almost uninhabited, the isthmus is now the locale of intensive guerilla warfare. The Red army's supply trains are under constant bombardment by the Finnish air force and are being attacked and destroyed by the Finnish guerilla detachments.

Meanwhile, in north Finland, after the battles of Kuolajarvi and Salla, the rout of the soviet invaders from Nautsi [south of Petsamo], and the destruction of an entire soviet division at Suomussalmi, the Finns have captured complete equipment of more than two soviet divisions. THE TRIBUNE is informed.

The booty from the Petsamo and

BRITISH RELEASE AMERICAN LINER BOUND FOR ITALY

May Establish Contraband Port in Canada.

New York, Jan. 7 [Special].—The release of the United States liner Manhattan, after it was seized and taken to Gibraltar by the British contraband control, was revealed tonight in a radio message from Capt. George V. Richardson, master of the vessel, to the line's New York offices.

Capt. Richardson said the ship, one of the two biggest liners carrying the American flag, was detained for 40 hours. Cable dispatches from London, which defended the seizure as a mere routine measure of sea warfare, asserted the ship had been held only 24 hours.

The seizure of the Manhattan follows a series of protests from Secretary of State Cordell Hull challenging the right of Great Britain to force American ships, bound for neutral ports, into British ports for contraband examination, and particularly protesting against the removal of American mail for examination by British censors. American neutrality laws forbid American vessels to enter waters of belligerent nations.

Leaves New York Dec. 30.

The Manhattan left New York Dec. 30 for Genoa and Naples, Italy, on the first trip of a new fortnightly service. Officials of the line said British interference would interrupt sailing schedules and disrupt the service. The liner Washington, the Manhattan's sister ship, is scheduled to sail next Saturday for the same ports.

London dispatches declared the British ministry of economic warfare today issued orders for release of the Manhattan after London agents of the line gave assurance that the entire cargo was covered by navicerts. These documents are certificates, issued by British consular agents in America which show that merchandise carried by vessels is not contraband.

Seek to Excuse Seizure.

London officials sought to excuse the Manhattan seizure by saying contraband control officers have wide latitude to search neutral ships and that the Gibraltar contraband officer probably had not been advised that the Manhattan had complied with British regulations.

Whether American mail was taken off the ship and searched could not be learned tonight either here or in London. Capt. Richardson's brief message gave no information on this. London officials asserted tonight that altho the British desire to avoid offending America, they probably would continue to insist upon the right to examine mail addressed to Germany.

May Set Up Control Point.

LONDON, Jan. 7 (AP).—A contraband control station on the other side of the Atlantic, probably in Canadian waters, may be suggested by the British government as a reply to American protests over diversion of ships to British ports for examination.

The British government, it is understood, has the plan under consideration. The station probably would have to be in Canadian waters to avoid infringing upon neutral rights.

The United States of America has protested against diversion of American ships to British ports, which brings them within perils of the sea zone prohibited to American shipping by the neutrality act. The diversion applies particularly to ships seeking to skirt the war zone to Norwegian ports.

BRITISH OUTCRY AGAINST CABINET SHAKEUP GROWS

Commons May Fight It Out in Secret.

LONDON, Jan. 7 (AP).—The outcry against the abrupt dismissal of Leslie Hore-Belisha as war secretary swelled today. Members of parliament talked of a secret session to fight it out.

The core of the criticism was a demand to know what "exalted influences" behind Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain made him drop his brisk, army reforming minister. The majority of London newspapers screamed protests.

Laborite Emanuel Shinwell declared in a speech to his constituents that apparently "aristocratic influences" were at work and charged:

"If generals in the British army or war office are to have their own way then all talk of democracy is simply humbug."

Demands Frank Explanation.

The political writer for the important Press association, whose news report goes to virtually every paper in Britain, wrote that "only a frank explanation [by the government] can allay an unpleasant [illegible] that something unusual has happened in British politics."

He cited Chamberlain's letter accepting Hore-Belisha's resignation, which expressed confidence in the former war secretary.

"Why was a man who had achieved as much as Hore-Belisha dismissed if the premier had confidence in him?" the correspondent asked.

Feeling of Private Soldier.

The correspondent said members of parliament wanted to know:

What is the pressure to which Prime Minister Chamberlain has yielded?

What are the exalted influences from which pressure has come and why can't they come into the open?

What is the feeling of the private soldier and won't his confidence be shaken?

ance with his rank, an officer's pay, which, in the front line, was twice as high as the peacetime salary.

New System of War Pay.

To eliminate what the broad masses in Germany regarded as a gross injustice in favor of the well-to-do classes, the Nazi government introduced the new system of war pay under which better care will be taken of the rank and file and of their families. To start with, every man in the German armed forces, be he a commander of an army group or a private, will get special war pay, or "wehrsold."

The plain soldier or sailor draws 30 marks, or $12, monthly, while the maximum wehrsold is restricted to $64 a month. The latter is paid to generals in command of army corps or bigger units.

This wehrsold is regarded as pocket money for the officers and men and is meant to cover personal expenses, such as tobacco, drinks, and other incidentals. The state provides for their families.

Rank and File Families.

As far as the officers' corps and regulars are concerned they continue to receive peacetime pay, minus a small wartime deduction. The same regulation applies to civil servants who are called to the colors. They continue to get their salaries plus the wehrsold.

The families of the rank and file are taken care of in accordance with the incomes they drew before the war started. The wife of a skilled worker, for instance, who received a salary of $80 monthly, now gets state support of $30 monthly. In addition the state pays the family's rent and an average of $12 for each child and all social insurance fees, such as sickness, invalid and old age insurance.

If the family purchased articles for the home on the instalment plan before the outbreak of the war, the state will in most cases continue the payments. In line with the Nazi policy for an increased birthrate, the state also pays $12 monthly for illegitimate children.

Receives $46 a Month.

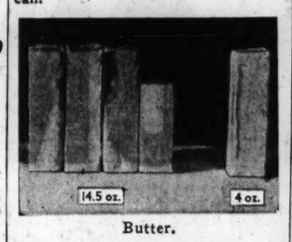

The wife of an employé who had a monthly income of $120 gets state support of $46 a month. Again as in the case of a worker's wife, her rent and all insurance fees are paid and she also gets $12 a month for each child. In households where servants are kept the salary and all insurance fees of one servant girl are paid if the family has at least two children under 14 years of age.

The maximum sum the state pays to the wife of a conscripted man is $80, plus rent and insurance fees. This corresponds to a monthly peacetime income of $232. Frequently firms formerly employing men now serving the colors give small contributions to the family. It is estimated that 50 per cent of Germany's industrial plants and other commercial undertakings give this additional sum.

UNITED STATES TO EXCHANGE ENVOY WITH AUSTRALIA

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8 [Monday] (AP).—The United States and Australian governments today made simultaneous announcement of the establishment of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

In Canberra it was announced that Richard G. Casey, minister of supply and formerly federal treasurer, would be the first minister to Washington. The state department announcement said that appointment of an American minister to Canberra will be made shortly.

Australian interests in the United States hitherto have been represented by the British ambassador. In designating its own minister, Australia is following the diplomatic footsteps of Canada and the Union of South Africa, two other integral parts of the British empire.

With Britain preoccupied by war, Australia has become increasingly apprehensive over Japan's advances on the Asiatic continent and has been anxious for closer ties with the United States, the only western power with a major navy in the Pacific.

ITALY, HUNGARY END TALKS; AWAIT MOVE BY RUSSIA

Agree on Plans to Defend Order and Peace.

Count Csaky.

Authoritative Fascists indicated the foreign ministers, who had two talks yesterday and another today, had agreed to await war developments between the western powers and some sign of Russia's intentions in the Balkans before making any move.

Count Csaky, however, changed his previous plan of remaining in Italy a week more and decided to return tomorrow to Budapest to report to his government.

Agree on Defense Plans.

Count Ciano announced before leaving for Rome that the conversations were "carried out with complete identity of views on problems concerning defense of order and peace in Europe."

The Hungarian foreign minister was understood to have told Ciano that Hungary desired peaceful settlement of territorial disputes with her neighbors, particularly her claims for return of Transylvania from Rumania, but expected satisfaction of those claims.

Informed Italian sources said Ciano advised Hungary to seek such satisfaction peaceably and had pictured Premier Mussolini as determined to keep Russia out of southeastern Europe.

See Tension Eased.

Csaky's sudden decision to return home caused foreign circles to expect early overtures for better relations between Hungary and Rumania. Authoritative Fascists indicated they had reason to believe Rumania might modify her attitude toward frontier revision for the sake of gaining a common front with Hungary against Russia.

Ciano's statement yesterday that the Hungarian foreign minister displayed "realistic European judgment on various problems and not a sense of national selfishness" was interpreted as meaning Hungary would continue to help Italy's policy of avoiding friction in the Balkans which might start war there.

Germany Plays Down Talks.

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—The conference between Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, and Count Stephan Csaky, Hungarian foreign minister, is treated in Germany as an interesting but not particularly important affair which does not merit front page display in the press. The results of the conference are summarized in official communiques.

There is no mention of the Russian menace to Bessarabia being discussed at the conference nor of Italy's announced determination to resist any further expansion of bolshevism in Europe.

ONE DEAD, 2 HURT; ADD TO POLICE IN PHILIPPINE STRIKE

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 7 (AP).—Constabulary reinforcements moved into Pampanga province today after one man was killed and two others wounded at Mexico, heart of the district where 5,000 sugar workers are on strike. Five persons were arrested.

The dead man and one of the wounded were members of a union organized by Provincial Governor Sotero Baluyot. The other wounded man belonged to the striking Socialist union.

One entire plantation of sugar cane and 600 tons of harvested cane were burned and officials said they suspected incendiarism. The strikers demanded wage increases, recognition of the Socialist union, disbanding of the governor's union, and removal of the governor himself. Two railroad workers were wounded by shotgun fire yesterday.

BRITAIN TO DROP NAVAL CENSOR, LONDON HEARS

LONDON, Jan. 8 [Monday] (AP).—Vice Admiral C. V. Usborne has consented to resign as chief of the British naval censorship service and the post will be abolished, the Daily Herald said today. Usborne declined to comment.

It was declared the reported reform would give greater authority to Sir Walter T. Monckton, director general of the press and censorship bureau, who recently offered to resign because he said his hands were tied by the heads of the fighting forces.

Under the new arrangement, the Herald said, Monckton could challenge decisions of the service departments and demand from them more news for the press.

RUMANIA ORDERS SHIPS TO SAFETY; RED FLEET AT SEA

Maneuvers Held in Black Sea Near Dardanelles.

CONSTANTA, Rumania, Jan. 7 (AP).—Rumania's navy today ordered the Rumanian liner Bessarabia to put back to port in Istanbul, Turkey, "because of Russian fleet maneuvers" in the Black sea.

Map locates Dardanelles and Balkan states on Black sea.

The liner had been headed for Constanta, Rumania's principal port. All merchant shipping was ordered to remain in Constanta, tho the extent of Russian maneuvers was not learned.

Fleet Near Turkey.

Rumanian naval authorities said it was unusual for the soviet fleet to maneuver in the area close to the passage from the Black sea thru the Turkish controled Dardanelles to the Mediterranean..

[The most recent previous report of Russian sea maneuvers was on Dec. 18 when the soviet navy newspaper, Red Fleet, said war games had been concluded in the Black sea shortly after Turkey and Russia failed to reach an agreement and Turkey signed a pact with Britain and France.]

King Warns Russia.

Only yesterday King Carol of Rumania gave an implied warning to Russia against possible Russian designs on Bessarabia by declaring that Rumanians "are ready to die together to defend their borders." The king spoke at Chisinau, capital of Bessarabia, the province Rumania gained from Russia in the world war. The soviet union never has recognized Rumania's sovereignty over Bessarabia.

There were reports that Hungary had offered Rumania assistance against Russia in return for cession of about 70 per cent of Transylvania, the province Rumania got in the breakup of the old Austro-Hungarian empire. The king's speech, however, indicated such an offer was rejected.

[Hungary's foreign minister, Count Stephan Csaky, who has been conferring with Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano in Venice, was reported to have been counseled to seek peaceful satisfaction of Hungary's claim on Transylvania.]

Japan and Russia Open Trade Talks in Moscow

MOSCOW, Jan. 7 (AP).—Preliminary trade talks between Japan and Russia were launched today when Ambassador Shigenori Togo and Shikao Matsushima, head of a Japanese commercial mission, called upon Soviet Foreign Trade Commissar A. I. Mikoyan. It was expected formal negotiations would begin about Jan. 10.

BIG GUNS FIGHT DUEL FOR HOUR ON WEST FRONT

PARIS, Jan. 7 (AP).—A heavy artillery duel northeast of Sarreguemines, southeast of Saarbruecken on the western front, was reported today by military sources. French batteries are said to have silenced a German barrage.

The duel, which raged for an hour last night, was opened by the Germans, the reports said. The French replied with concentrated fire from their 75, 105 and 155 millimeter guns.

There was no infantry activity during the engagement, but the French reported successful patrol operations at several other points.

French scouting parties, it was said, reached enemy lines and returned with prisoners in three sectors—east of the Moselle river, east and west of the Saar river, and in the Vosges mountains.

The French general staff's communique this morning said: "Patrol activity at different points of the front. In the region east of the Blies [river], fairly sharp artillery action on both sides after nightfall."

"Nothing of importance to report," stated the communique tonight.

Front Quiet, Says Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 7 (AP).—Germany's high command today reported no special events on the west front. It added that the air force had scouted over France and Great Britain.

EX-KAISER'S COLD KEEPS HIM FROM FRIEND'S FUNERAL

DOORN, the Netherlands, Jan. 7 (AP).—Former Kaiser Wilhelm, suffering from a cold, was forbidden by his physician today to attend the funeral of Count Godard Bentinck, who gave him refuge in 1918 when he fled to the Netherlands.

Count Bentinck died Thursday night and will be buried Tuesday. The former kaiser, who is 80 years of age, had planned to attend the services at Amerongen.

While Wilhelm is not confined to his bed, his physician decided his condition was such it would be risky for him to leave his Doorn castle.

FAKE CAFFEINE PEPS UP NAZIS' FALSE COFFEE

FRANKFURT-AM-MAIN, Germany, Jan. 7.—Synthetic caffeine, to be added to the German coffee substitute, is being produced in Germany. The product is a compound created on a carbon and nitrogen base. Its effect is said to equal that of the stimulant found in the coffee bean, which is not obtainable here because of the war. Added to the coffee substitute made of roasted rye or barley grains, the synthetic caffeine is said to supply a substitute for coffee in all except taste.

NORWAY, SWEDEN BAR USE OF THEIR LAND BY OTHERS

Will Fight Any Violations by Warring Powers.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 7 (AP).—Scandinavian newspapers today declared Sweden and Norway would reject "with arms" if necessary any attempt by a great power to use their territory as a springboard for an attack against another.

This assertion was made to refute German press declarations that Great Britain and France were using the pretext of aid to Finland as an excuse to gain a foothold for an attack on Germany.

Berlin newspapers also warned Sweden and Norway against providing transport facilities for the empires' war materials destined for Finland.

Must Stay Neutral.

The Norwegian newspaper Aftenposten commented:

"It is obvious that Sweden and Norway by no means intend to hand over bases to foreign troops. Any attempts in this direction would be repulsed—if necessary with arms."

The Swedish viewpoint was that Sweden's very desire to help Finland necessitates the strictest neutrality in the European war. If dragged into the continental conflict, Sweden would have to concentrate all her energy on her own defenses.

In discussing the growing apprehension in the Scandinavian countries over the confused Finnish-Russian and European war situations, the Danish newspaper Politiken, which often expresses the views of the Danish foreign minister, Dr. Peter Munch, said the prevailing nervousness was because the continental war has not really begun, and because the atmosphere is electric with speculations and rumors.

Only by Use of Violence.

The only way a western power might obtain Scandinavian bases for military operations, the newspaper declared, is by resorting to "violence." Such violence, the Politiken said, is not likely to be used by those whose declared aim is to end violence and threats of violence.

The newspaper added also:

"There are no reasonable grounds for believing Germany wants to drag Scandinavia into the war."

Finland's so far successful fight has increased pressure for outside help for her, and the northern countries are athwart the main lines of communication for such help from the west.

CHINESE AMBUSH LARGE JAP FORCE FLEEING ON RIVER

HONGKONG, Jan. 8 [Monday] (AP).—Chinese dispatches today asserted that several hundred Japanese troops were machine-gunned and drowned while fleeing across a river south of Yingtak on the Canton-Hankow railroad during a general Chinese advance in northern Kwangtung province. Coöperating Chinese airplanes and ground troops were making the advance in northern Kwangtung, semi-official Chinese sources reported.

However, Japanese military sources earlier this week announced they had halted a drive into northern Kwangtung province about 100 miles north of Canton, after achieving all their objectives, killing 20,000 Chinese soldiers and taking 3,000 prisoners. Unofficially the Japanese admitted withdrawing from several outlying positions. The Chinese said they had recaptured Yingtak but the Japanese denied it.

In North China the Chinese asserted—without verification—that they had dynamited a Japanese troop train on the Peking-Hankow railway in souther Hopei province, causing numerous casualties.

EXECUTION FACES POLES WHO FLEE TO WAR ON NAZIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—The able bodied Poles of military age who were seized recently by the German navy while trying to flee to enemy lands were declared today to have been trying to join Polish volunteers fighting the Germans. The men were only fleeing German rule, say their woman relatives, who fear they will be tried under German military law, which provides the death penalty.

Many families in Warsaw, in former Poland, have been compelled to send their children to German schools, according to information received here. In other cases children have been separated from their families and sent to schools in Germany to be taught to be Nazis.

Forty-two German schools have been opened, or are being opened, in Warsaw, and 31 in other Polish cities. To staff schools in conquered areas, the Germans have lowered the standards for teachers in the lower grades.

FINNS SURPRISE 150 REDS; FIND ALL ARE FROZEN

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 7 (AP).—Dispatches from the Salla front in northeast Finland told today a story of bitter cold and death. A Finnish patrol, coming suddenly upon a detachment of Russian troops, was surprised when the enemy continued to lie in the snow as the Finns approached. Cautiously advancing, the Finns found the entire detachment—150 men—frozen to death behind barbed wire entanglements.

OIL TO BE PRIZE IF WAR SPREADS TO MESOPOTAMIA

Empires Fear Russia May Strike.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 7.—For the last two weeks there has been an accumulation of references to the possibility of the present war being extended to the Mediterranean and Black seas and the Gulf of Persia.

The military objective would be oil and diplomatic observers here say it may be taken for granted that both the British and French general staffs have not left out of their calculations a possible Russian campaign directed toward Iraq [Mesopotamia] and the Persian gulf, where there are important sources of oil reserves and supplies for Britain and France.

Empires Buy Russian Oil.

One of the considerations retarding Great Britain and France from breaking with Russia is that even Russia is a source of some oil. While this is not vital to the empires, the British and French are buying all that is available in order to diminish German supplies by that amount.

Henry Bidou reviews in L'Intransigeant today the oil situation in the Mediterranean, Caspian and Black seas and Persian areas and the military strategy necessary to their defense. He mentions that 90 per cent of the Russian production comes from the Caucasus and that most of it goes over a pipe line to Batum, a Russian port on the Black sea, to be loaded on ships for distribution. The greater part of it is consumed by Russia, but some goes to Germany.

Supply for British Fleet.

The Iraq production, which goes by pipeline across Syria, could total 5,000,000 tons yearly. The Anglo-Persian Oil company reserves in the Persian gulf region are said to be more than adequate to supply the British fleet and marine in oriental waters.

Bidou quotes Egyptian, Arabian, and Syrian newspapers as declaring that Russia is ready to move into this region thru Turkey and Persia, and asks: "Will we now see campaigns in Iraq similar to those in Mesopotamia in the last war?"

FINNS HURL BACK RED SKI TROOPS' RAID IN ARCTIC

Salla fronts alone include 20 tanks fit for future use, a battery of six-inch howitzers, 15 3-inch field guns, 24 anti-tank guns, several hundred light and heavy machine guns, an unprecedented number of automatic rifles, and 2,000 soviet auto trucks which are already in the service of the Finnish army.

Five hundred captured Russian horses are rapidly being put into condition for work. They are being fed upon the black bread which the Russians carried as rations.

Blow Up Two Bridges.

I talked today with the lone survivor of a patrol of four Finnish skiers who penetrated 80 miles into soviet Karelia from a point on the Finnish frontier east of Kuhmo. This party succeeded in blowing up two bridges on the branch line of the Murmansk road running from Parandovo to Rugozero. Two Finns were shot when they encountered a Russian patrol, one was wounded and froze to death. The survivor, after days, reported the success of the assignment.

He said his party skied 80 miles to the railroad in less than two and one-half days. They rested for one day before they surprised the Russian soldiers guarding the bridge and after destroying them they blew it up.

After blowing up the second bridge they were chased by a soviet patrol.

This raid helped the Finns to defeat the invasion of the Russians east of Kuhmo and for five days the Finns have been pursuing the Russians back into their own territory at that point. The Finns moved across to soviet territory at Raate, chasing survivors of the division which was defeated at Suomussalmi, and also at Lieksa where another force of Russians was defeated.

Soviet Communique.

MOSCOW, Jan. 7 (AP).—A Finnish detachment was routed by a Russian patrol just north of Lake Ladoga, the nightly communique of the Red army reported tonight, but elsewhere quiet was declared continuing. The text of the communique:

"Jan. 7, nothing of importance took place at the front.

Hungarian Mission Leaves to Seek Trade in Russia

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Jan. 7.—A commercial delegation of three left for Moscow today to investigate the possibilities of Hungarian trade with Russia. The two countries have had no commercial arrangement since 1927, and before that had only limited trade. It is felt here that their common frontier now opens markets for Hungarian exports.

NATIONAL GUARD CHIEF CITES NEED OF MODERN ARMS

New Weapons Essential for Training, He Holds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—Modern weapons and increased training are needed to strengthen the National Guard so that, upon the outbreak of war, it can take its place as an efficient combat force under the national defense program. This assertion was made by Maj. Gen. Albert H. Blanding, chief of the National Guard Bureau of the war department, in his annual report to the secretary of war.

Maj. Gen. Albert H. Blanding.

"The state of training in the National Guard cannot reach the standard desired until all units have received their modern arms and equipment," Gen. Blanding declared, "and until regulations for their use have been adequately distributed and the troops have had opportunity to study and put into practice the applicable combat principles and technique.

Chemical Training Called Inadequate.

"A particular example of this need, as brought out in maneuvers of the last fiscal year, is the lack of proper equipment, and therefore of proper training, for antitank defense. No combat unit that lacks a full knowledge of these measures can be considered well trained in a modern sense.

"To a similar degree, and for the same reasons, chemical warfare training is inadequate in the National Guard. In previous reports I have commented on the seriousness of the shortage of gas masks, a lack that can hardly be reemphasized too strongly. In any major war our country may possibly become involved in, there is every reason to believe that troops may need their gas masks before they need their weapons."

In field artillery exercises, the report declared, service practice continues to show improved results. Here the guard is handicapped by obsolete weapons and equipment.

"One principal criticism contained in my previous reports is found necessary of repetition here," Gen. Blanding wrote. "More attention must be paid to increasing the proficiency of battery executives. The remedy appears to call upon the ingenuity of training supervisors to devise armory training practices that will stimulate and apply, to the greatest possible degree, the conditions of batteries in position in the field."

Seeks Further Legislation.

The general expressed confidence that congress will consider and enact further measures which will continue the building up of the National Guard. In his budget message to congress, President Roosevelt cut federal estimates for the guard from $53,220,645 appropriated in the current fiscal year to $47,857,881 for the fiscal year which is to begin July 1. The budget showed the cut was being made in the estimate for uniforms and equipment.

Steady progress has marked the guard's development in the last several years, Gen. Blanding said, noting that this progress continued in the 1939 fiscal year when the number of men in the guard was increased.

A substantial number of the new semiautomatic rifles and other equipment have been provided, he said, raising an already excellent morale.

NLRB ACCUSED OF USING YOUNG, INEFFICIENT AIDS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7 (AP).—The house committee investigating the labor relations board, it was learned today, will attempt to show at hearings starting tomorrow that inexperienced college graduates have been entrusted with important jobs in the board's review division.

Witnesses summoned for early appearance include four attorneys of this division—Aaron Lewittes, Lewis Gill, Mrs. Margaret Bennett Porter, and Mrs. Julius Schlesinger.

A committee official said the group wanted to inquire into what he termed the overenthusiasm of younger employés of this section. The review division inspects all evidence in a case before it goes to the board for final decision.

Churchill Inspects British Army, Air Force in France

LONDON, Jan. 7 (AP).—Winston Churchill, who directs Britain's navy as first lord of the admiralty, was in France today to look over the royal air force and the army which was trained and sent across the channel by Leslie Hore-Belisha, resigned war secretary. Churchill entered the R. A. F. zone to witness mock aerial attacks, but a low ceiling on the western front kept the planes grounded.

SPENDING PLANS ENVISION BIGGEST FLEET IN WORLD

War Gives Nation Chance to Dominate Seas.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7 (AP).—For the second time in recent history a world in arms has given this nation the opportunity to become mistress of the seas, and the administration's warship building proposals indicate that President Roosevelt and the navy's high command consider it an opportunity not to be missed.

The $1,224,521,833 appropriations request for the navy which Mr. Roosevelt submitted last week contemplate a sea power mightier than Britain's and nearly twice as powerful as Japan's.

Adding up the present naval score, it is found that Great Britain has 14 capital ships—since the loss of the Royal Oak, American 15, and Japan 10.

Britain Building Nine Ships.

Britain has nine battleships building, or immediately projected. If congress votes the funds Mr. Roosevelt asked, this nation will have 10 on the ways or actually launched in the next 18 months. Secretive Japan generally is credited with four battleships building.

So the prospective lineup five or six years hence, when the new ships should be afloat, will be: America, 25; Britain, 23; Japan, 14.

In the meantime Britain needs so many smaller craft to combat submarines and to convoy food ships that naval experts question whether it will even try to keep up with America.

Agrees to Scrap Ships.

The other occasion when this country was in a position to dominate the seas was immediately before and after the world war. At that time congress voted for the construction in three years of 10 battleships, 6 battle cruisers, and 140 smaller warships, but America agreed, in the 1921 naval reduction conference, to surrender its prospective dominance to forestall a costly competition.

Under the agreement reached at the conference the American navy scrapped about 30 capital ships built and building.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] announced today that he would introduce in the house tomorrow a joint resolution providing for a national referendum before drafting citizens and aliens for military service outside of the western hemisphere or outside the territorial possessions of the United States.

Rep. Hamilton Fish.

"This resolution differs materially from the Ludlow war referendum resolution, which is opposed by the veterans' organizations as jeopardizing our national defense and interfering with the constitutional right of congress to declare war, and does not call for a constitutional amendment," Fish said.

"It could be adopted by a majority vote in the house and senate at this session of congress."

FIRE AT SHURTLEFF COLLEGE.

Alton, Ill., Jan. 7 (AP).—Fire damaged the men's dormitory on the Shurtleff college campus here last night. Only one student was in the 14 room building when the blaze started. The college administration building was destroyed by fire a year ago this month.

U. OF I. AWAITS REPLY TO OFFER OF STRIKE PEACE

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 7 [Special].—Trustees of the University of Illinois expect a reply early this week to their proposal for settlement of a strike of plumbers and steam fitters on three buildings being erected on the campus. The strike was called last Monday on orders from national headquarters in Washington, D. C., without a vote by the Urbana local, to force the university trustees to do a heating plant job thru a contractor. The university had decided to do the work with its own union employés and such additional union help as needed, because the contractors' bids were considered too high.

In its offer of a settlement the university insisted on its right to do its own work, but it pledged that the union employés would be guaranteed all social security and workmen's compensation rights that they would have if they were working for a contractor instead of the university.

CAR KILLS PEDESTRIAN.

COMMERCE BODY ATTACKS LACK OF SUPERROAD LINKS

Cites Need for Adequate Loop Connections.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Chicago Association of Commerce, in a gently worded statement, yesterday approved a $110,000,000 superhighway program proposed for Chicago but attacked elemental factors in the plans prepared by city engineers and now pending before the council.

"Any superhighway system," said the report, which was prepared by association committees and approved by its board of directors, "should include provisions for facilities encircling the central business district and assuring adequate distribution of local and thru traffic."

This conclusion follows a recommendation for a downtown superhighway quadrangle, which has been advocated by the Chicago Plan commission for more than 10 years.

Outer Drive East Side.

The Outer drive would form the east side of the quadrangle in the plan proposed by the Chicago Plan commission. The north side of the quadrangle would extend west in Erie street from Lake Shore drive to Des Plaines street. The west side would extend south in Des Plaines street from Erie street to Taylor street. The south side would extend east in Taylor street from Des Plaines street to Field boulevard. The program would cost $35,000,000.

The city's plans for a Congress street superhighway fail to coördinate with this downtown quadrangle conception. The design, as prepared by Charles L. De Leuw, consulting engineer for the city, would end the express lanes on the east at Canal street.

East Extension Urged.

The Chicago Motor club and the Illinois Automobile club have recommended that any west side superhighway be carried east to the outer drive.

If Congress street is to be the location—a proposal in itself that is challenged—a continuation eastward would form the south side of the central business district quadrangle. The quadrangle would be completed by building a north and south superhighway to the west of the river between the north and the south sides of the rectangle.

Three purposes of such a downtown superloop are cited by the association of commerce: [1] the accumulation and distribution of traffic, [2] efficient access to all parts of the central business area, and [3] a free bypass for thru traffic around the central business area by interconnection of all superhighways entering the district.

Links Termed Essential.

"Obviously," the association's report said, "satisfactory connections of the outer terminals of the proposed superhighways with various federal, state, and county trunk line routes are essential to the development of the full efficiency of these superhighways. The practicability and the possibility of financing and building of extensions thru the suburban areas should be weighed in determining the design and location of these superhighways."

The county highway department would connect its northwest superhighway with the fan of important rural routes radiating from the northwest corner of the city. The city engineers, in their plans for Congress street, would end their superhighway at Columbus park on the city limits, dumping the traffic load into local suburban streets.

Continuation Suggested.

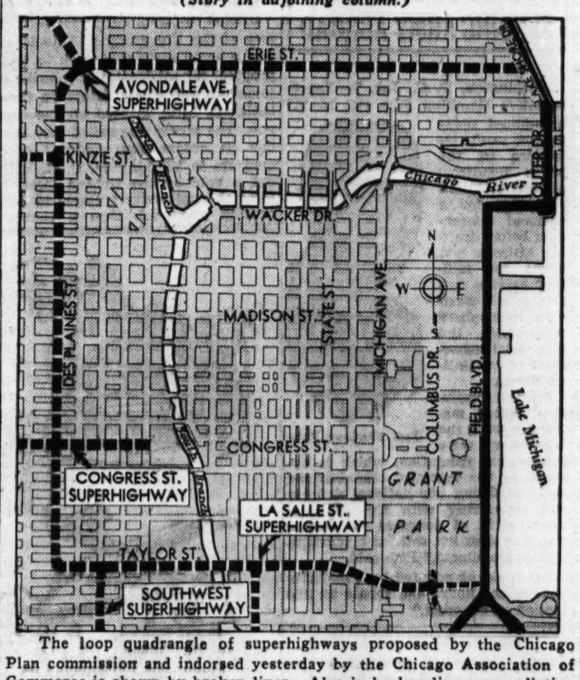

There are vague suggestions, lacking surveys and estimates, for an eventual continuation of the superhighway thru the suburbs to Butterfield road, a distance of eight miles.

"Because of the large sums of money involved," the association report concluded, "it would also seem advisable that sufficient funds be expended to make certain that the locations selected are the best available."

The two automobile clubs have urged the city to survey possible alternates for the Congress street location.

Indorse Superroad Quadrangle

(Story in adjoining column.)

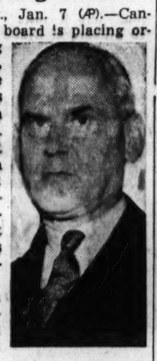

The loop quadrangle of superhighways proposed by the Chicago Plan commission and indorsed yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce is shown by broken lines. Also in broken lines are radiating superhighways which would connect with quadrangle. Solid line is outer drive, which would form fourth side of quadrangle.

CANADA ORDERS $4,000,000 A WEEK OF WAR SUPPLIES

Will Need 4,000 Planes for Training Plan.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 7 (AP).—Canada's war supply board is placing orders averaging $4,000,000 a week, including those for 593 airplanes manufactured in the United States.

Transport Minister Charles D. Howe.

In a broadcast address, one of a series by cabinet members on Canada's war activity, Transport Minister Charles D. Howe declared:

"This is a high geared purchasing pace and must be exceeded as large orders now impending are placed. The sum of money represented in orders now placed for war supplies amounts to about $65,000,000 and in addition the board has expended $25,000,000 for railway locomotives and cars."

1,282 to Be Made in Canada.

In discussing the dominion's vast air training program, Howe estimated 4,000 airplanes would be needed.

"Of training planes required," he said, "1,282 will be wholly manufactured in Canada, except for engines. Eight hundred and seventy complete aircraft are on order in England and will be assembled in Canada, and 593 aircraft are being manufactured in the United States."

"In addition, 1,622 aircraft—less wings—are on order in England."

The war supply board, the minister declared, is organizing a Canadian aircraft industry to produce and overhaul between 3,000 and 4,000 airplane engines needed each year.

Rapidly Expand Industry.

Approximately $17,000,000 will be spent in shipbuilding.

One of the important problems, the minister said, has been outfitting of men in the armed services.

In citing expansion in industry, Howe said the production of gloves had been increased tenfold and blanket production tripled.

In addition to making purchases for Canada, Howe said the war supply board also handles buying for the British and French governments and was "entrusted with the spending of almost terrifying sums of money."

HEARING TODAY IN HOLLAND SUIT CHARGING LIBEL

The initial hearing of the $250,000 libel suit filed jointly against Chief Justice John J. Stonsteby of the Municipal court and Bertram J. Cahn, president of the Chicago Crime commission, is scheduled to be held this morning before Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher. Attorney Joseph T. Harrington, representing Municipal Judge Eugene J. Holland, who filed the suit, said arguments might be heard in regard to Justice Sonsteby's recent motion to strike out the suit.

Both Judge Holland and Judge Eugene L. McGarry were relieved of duty some time ago at the request of the crime commission pending an investigation by the Chicago Bar association. Judge McGarry was indicted on charges of malfeasance in office and of conspiracy to accept false acknowledgment in bond matters. The indictment was quashed. Judge Holland was a business partner of Edward J. O'Hare, race track operator, who was slain on Nov. 8. Both Judge Sonsteby and Cahn are expected to be in court today.

When the increase was authorized by President Roosevelt on Sept. 18 the number of recruits to be enlisted in the 6th corps area was placed at 4,714 in addition to the number required to cover routine losses in the area caused by retirements, expiration of enlistments, and other normal factors. The quota was filled Saturday, Gen. Ford said.

BUS SKIDS INTO AUTO IN PARK; 4 ARE INJURED

Light Pole and Fire Plug Knocked Over.

Three bus passengers and an automobile rider were injured last night when a double deck bus skidded in Lake Shore drive in Lincoln park, 200 feet north of Fullerton avenue, sidewiped a car and knocked over a light pole and a fire plug.

Those injured are Mrs. Wilma Droeger, 37 years old, 244 East Pearson street; Paul J. Hardt, 55, of 218 East Superior street, and Alan Hirschtritt, 13, of 3800 Lake Shore drive, who were in the bus, and Mrs. Martin Murray, 1457 Lawrence avenue. The Hirschtritt boy is the son of Attorney Leo M. Hirschtritt.

Skids and Hits Car.

The bus, operated by James Lamb, 6141 North Francisco avenue, was south bound when, he told police, a cab cut it off. Lamb applied the brakes, and the bus skidded. It struck the car of Martin Murray, husband of the injured woman, then went over the curb, and hit the pole and fire plug. About 30 passengers in the bus were shaken. Water from the smashed fire plug flooded the drive.

Mrs. Carrie Snyder, 30 years old, 6351 South California avenue, and A. A. Paschen, 46, 1508 North Crawford avenue, were seriously injured yesterday in an automobile accident at the Indiana Harbor Belt line railroad and 111th street east of Chicago Ridge.

Mrs. Snyder was driving Paschen's car, according to State Highway Policeman Lester McDonnell, and did not see an approaching freight train. Police said Paschen grabbed the wheel, swerving the car into the flasher signal post, which was working. Both were taken to the St. Francis hospital, Blue Island.

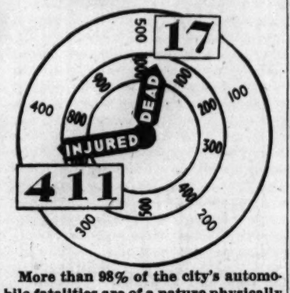

Dies of Injuries.

Michael Synal, 59, of 5110 South Keeler avenue, died in the University hospital of injuries, suffered Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile at Archer and South Central avenues. The driver was Frank De Luge, 1845 West 34th street.

Mrs. Howard Linn, prominent in social circles, was slightly injured yesterday when her automobile skidded at the entrance to the Shore Acres golf course, north of Lake Bluff, and struck a telephone pole. She was driving alone. Mrs. Linn's home is on the club grounds.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 25 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 17 were killed in Chicago, where 411 were injured in the same period.

TAX COLLECTIONS IN COOK COUNTY RISE DURING 1939

Cook county taxpayers contributed $163,545,397 on their 1939 tax bills from June 1, the penalty date, to Dec. 30, County Treasurer John Toman reported yesterday. This represented an increase of $6,093,166 over the same period of collections in 1938.

Only 20 per cent of the 1939 taxes remain uncollected, Toman said. At the end of 1938, for the same period, uncollected current taxes amounted to 24 per cent. This percentage was reduced last year to 18 by payment of $13,000,000 in 1937 taxes.

Real estate tax payments showed the greatest increase, producing $125,491,964, an increase of more than $10,000,000 over the 1938 period.

Admits Being Intoxicated During Ceremony.

The disclosure of a marriage performed by a Crown Point, Ind., justice of the peace while the bridegroom admittedly was under the influence of liquor brought prompt action yesterday by Mayor Vincent Youkey of Crown Point. He said he would stop such marriages if he had to ask grand jury action and added that he is tired of having Crown Point known only because of "Dillinger and the marriage mill."

The bridegroom was Peter J. Caulfield, 35 years old, of Chicago. He was arrested on orders of Mayor Youkey. He pleaded guilty to a charge of being married while intoxicated and paid a $10 fine. The bridegroom's Chicago address was not available, and the name of the bride, said to be from Cedar Lake, Ind., was not learned.

Mayor Youkey saw the wedding party step into Main street after the marriage had been performed Saturday by Justice of the Peace Harvey Minas.

Groom Weaving, Says Mayor.

"The bridegroom was waving the wedding certificate and weaving and falling against the others," the mayor said. "He was drunk, and it made me angry. I told Police Chief Marvin Erlenbach to arrest him. Caulfield agreed to stand trial at once.

"He admitted that he was intoxicated, and his bride shoved him and said: 'Keep your mouth shut.'"

Justice Minas said he had married the couple only upon the insistence of the others in the wedding party of five, and asserted that the bridegroom and bride were merely "feelin' good." He said he never had married an intoxicated couple.

Law? He Doesn't Know It.

Minas was asked later whether he, too, were not liable under a Crown Point ordinance which forbids persons to marry while intoxicated. He replied:

"I don't know the law."

The ordinance provides a maximum penalty of a $50 fine or 30 days' imprisonment, or both. It applies to all persons who encourage or take part in a gin marriage. Mayor Youkey said he did not know whether action would be taken against Minas.

Walter Mybeck, clerk of Lake county, Ind., said the couple were sober when the license was issued earlier Saturday.

"Good Job," Says Clerk.

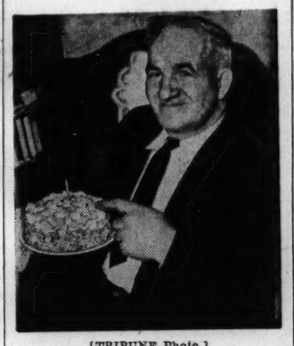

"I think the mayor did a good job," said Mybeck. "There's been a rule in our office for the last eight years that no licenses are granted if there is the slightest suspicion of liquor. We've turned down lots."

Mayor Youkey, who has held office for 11 years and is executive secretary of the Indiana Municipal league, said he has been trying to keep the marriage mill aspect of Crown Point in the background. He said the majority of the citizens feels as he does.

"I told the justices two months ago that I knew they had a racket, but gin marriages would have to stop," he said. "And they're going to stop."

A STORE FOR STOREKEEPERS

By CALEB

BUT WHAT a store! A vast, centralized assembly of the country's newest merchandise—whose buyers are themselves retailers! Eleven thousand of these, in every category from top metropolitan merchant to small-town proprietor, will congregate today in the Merchandise Mart to begin their spring and summer buying. For today marks the opening of the semi-annual International Homefurnishings Market—Chicago's latest and greatest event of its kind.

The size of this purchasing Mecca of American storemen alone is almost beyond expression in words. To house the elaborate displays of its one thousand, eight hundred and fifty-seven homefurnishing exhibitors, eight entire floors are required. And remember that a Merchandise Mart "floor" averages some 225,000 square feet of space. Conceive, then, a homefurnishings exposition distributing itself over some two million square feet—or approximately 46 acres—and you begin to grasp the gigantic scale on which, in this representative rendezvous of the nation's merchandisers, "buying for a nation" is carried out!

Here, until January 20th, buying syndicates, individual store-owners and executives from the whole United States and a dozen foreign countries, including Mexico, South America and Australia, will critically inspect and select from over a hundred thousand items. Among the displays are 50,000 samples built to incorporate the new designs, styling, trends, innovations and originalities that make up America's furnishings picture for 1940.

The Mart's sixth floor is devoted to the decorative arts . . . the top lines in fine furniture, fabrics and accessories for the home. The twelfth floor is given over to lamp-makers in 234 lines—a tremendous fairyland of illumination, ablaze with some 40,000 bulbs! The thirteenth floor houses curtains, draperies and floor-coverings; the fourteenth, housewares and electric appliances; the fifteenth, china, glass and giftwares; the sixteenth and seventeenth, furniture; and the eighteenth, hard and soft surfaced floor coverings.

During the next fortnight, an army of America's retailers will restock thousands of stores from major city to rural hamlet, with purchases aggregating around $35,000,000. A single short decade ago the International Homefurnishings Market boasted 556 buyers—today, 11,000! Thanks to the Merchandise Mart's magnificent exhibition possibilities, this great event realizes gigantic time-and-money economies for the merchandiser, and thus renders invaluable service to those millions of homes which modern manufacturing and retailing exist to equip and adorn.

GARAGE SLAYING SPLITS OWNERS' GROUP AND UNION

Rift Results from Blame in Goon Terrorism.

Murder Background

THE CRIME — Marinus Hvid, a garage owner, was beaten fatally by labor sluggers 12 days ago. No clew to the identity of the slayers has been found.

THE RECORD — Hvid's murder was the 32d labor slaying in Chicago in the last nine years. There has been a conviction in only one case.

The murder of Marinus Hvid has caused a rift between the Affiliated Garages of Chicago, an employers' organization, and the garage workers' union, according to information obtained yesterday by Police Capt. Patrick O'Connell of the Town Hall station.

Capt. O'Connell.

Hvid, owner of a garage at 3514 North Halsted street, died Dec. 30, three days after he had been slugged by labor goons. A strike had been called against his garage by the Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers, and Garage Helpers' union last March, four days after he had been expelled from the Affiliated Garages.

"The garage owners disclaim responsibility for the murder and have turned against the union," Capt. O'Connell said. "They say the union has given them a bad name, and they would like to unload the blame on union officials. They are considering offering a reward for the apprehension of the murderers."

Test Expected Today.

A test of the attitude of both organizations is expected today by Capt. O'Connell. He said he has been notified by the union that picketing will be resumed this morning at the Hvid garage, now being operated by the widow, Mrs. Dagmar Hvid, and two of her sons.

"I am going to find out the purpose of the picketing," Capt. O'Connell said. "I want to know whether it is an attempt to force the garage back into the owners' organization. The union has no grievance against the place.

"I have been shown records of conversations between Hvid, before his death, and Edward Reilly, president of the union; Edward Gale, union secretary in charge of this picketing, and William Bibby, union business agent. In all of them Hvid agreed to all the union's demands except that he rejoin the owners' union.

"Therefore I take the position there is no legitimate strike against this garage. Any picketing is for the purpose of helping another organization. I told Gale and Bibby I would arrest the pickets for creating a disturbance and the union officials, too, if they interfere."

Attorney A. L. Marovitz, state senator for the 19th district, who represents the Affiliated Garages, confirmed the statement the members had discussed the offer of a reward for the capture of the Hvid slayers.

Marovitz said the members of the garage association met Saturday afternoon. He said they voiced resentment because the union had caused them to be called racketeers and wanted to do something to present their views on the slaying.

He said they resented the treatment accorded them at the state's attorney's office. Marovitz said William F. Enzweiler, association treasurer, complained that Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford had misquoted him. Crawford had said Enzweiler told him he had no knowledge of the fact that $14,000 of the association's funds had been spent by Emil Mermall, executive director.

"They want to confer with the committee of the Association of Commerce which is headed by Frank Specht," Marovitz said. "They want to offer their cooperation and possibly a reward. Their committee may see Mr. Hecht on Monday."

Hecht, chairman of the All Chicago Council of the Association of Commerce, was appointed by Oscar G. Mayer, president of the city's business group, to head a committee which is to call the Hvid murder to the attention of "every respectable organization in the city." The committee met last Thursday. Another meeting is planned for next Thursday.

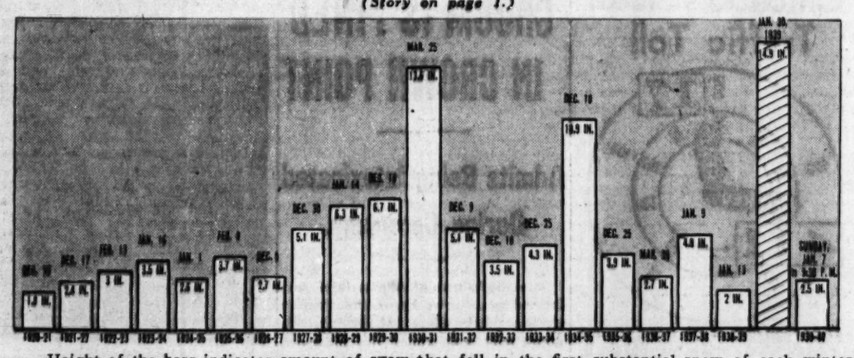

Plan of Action Told.

"We are going to appoint a permanent committee on the Hvid murder," Hecht said yesterday. "We will maintain an office in the loop, where nothing will be done except in the interest of bringing those murderers to justice."

Prosecutor Crawford, assigned to this investigation by State's Attorney Courtney, said he expects to bring the case to the attention of the grand jury this week. Members of the Affiliated Garages will have an opportunity of presenting their side to the jury, Crawford said.

UNCLE SAM TO AUCTION TRUCKS TODAY IN FIGHT OVER OLD AGE TAXES

York, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP).—Two trucks which Uncle Sam seized last month from Fred Perkins, government-defying battery manufacturer, are going to be sold at auction—and Perkins plans to be on hand for the bidding. The trucks were confiscated after the 61 year old business man refused to pay $105.36 in social security taxes, penalties, and interest. Perkins said he hoped to buy them back.

If he does, government agents said, he must pay enough to cover the government's claim or the trucks will be seized again. Should another bidder get them and the claim remains unfilled, other property may be confiscated until the taxes are paid in full.

The sale will mark another skirmish in Perkins' fight with Uncle Sam which began in 1934 when he went to jail for 18 days for defying the NRA. The manufacturer insists he will "fight it out if it takes all winter."

TWO MURDERERS TO MAKE PAROLE BIDS TOMORROW

Nine convicts from Cook county, two of them murderers now in Joliet penitentiary, will be among 19 inmates of three Illinois penal institutions to apply for parole at hearings of the state board of pardons and paroles tomorrow.

Michael Jakubiak [top] and Thomas Christensen.

One of the slayers is Michael Jakubiak, who was sentenced in 1930 to 50 years' imprisonment for the murder of his wife, Mary, Jakubiak, known to neighbors as a model husband, slashed his wife's throat with a paring knife in a lonely prairie Sept. 17, 1927.

The other slayer, Thomas Christensen, who was a Chicago detective, staggered into the Radio inn in Niles on Feb. 14, 1926, and killed the keeper, Boleslaw Wawrznkiewicz, when he was refused more liquor. Christensen was sentenced in 1927 to 35 years for murder.

World War Flyer Dies of Burns in Hotel Room

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 7 (AP).—Francis W. Cowles, 51 years old, a first lieutenant in the 96th bombing squadron during the world war, who had been associated for the last few months with the Pratt & Whitney division of United Aircraft, burned to death today in a fire in his hotel room. Police believed Cowles had been smoking in bed.

WHY HURT THE PUBLIC?

PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION REGULATION WOULD HURT ALL

IT IS DISTURBING, to say the least, that Federal legislation can deprive the public of the benefits of the advances of science and engineering. It is even more alarming to note that such legislation is not only possible but is at this very moment being considered. Three sinister bills dealing with transportation regulation are before the third session of the 76th Congress. They affect every phase of the transportation industry and every man, woman and child in the United States. They affect his food, shelter and pocketbook.

These three bills—and there are others, too—are the Lea Bill, Wheeler-Truman Bill and the Bill of the Committee of the Whole House. They are known collectively as the Omnibus Transportation Bill.

Why do they strike at practically every American home and business? Because they would penalize the advantages of some forms of transportation and artificially bolster the disadvantages of others by benefits and awards, at the public expense.

WOULD INCREASE COST OF LIVING

The net result? Higher cost of transportation which means increased cost of living and of doing business. THE COST OF TRANSPORTATION MUST BE FIGURED IN THE PRICE OF ANY ARTICLE.

Let's get down to cases.

This agitation for regulation or restrictive legislation has been going on for years. The railroads of the United States have poured millions upon millions of dollars into persistent campaigns to influence the passage of laws designed to hamper competitive forms of transportation.

Because of such activities we have such unsound laws as those which create interstate barriers against highway transportation and prevent the free flow of highway commerce between states. But, because of the innate soundness of motor transport, goods are being transported over the highways today more efficiently, at cheaper rates and with direct and quicker service than ever before . . . And more than 6,500,000 Americans are making their living, directly and indirectly, in this business!

TRUCKS ARE NOW regulated far more than are the railroads. While representing something less than 5% of the traffic under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, 37% of the money appropriated for the Commission's use was spent on truck regulation in the year ending June 1939!

To regulate truck traffic the I. C. C. spent $3,250,000. For all remaining activities of the I. C. C., including regulation of the railroads which carry around 75% of the traffic, the I. C. C. spent only $5,476,000.

The size, capacity and management of trucks are under strict State and Federal supervision—often to an extent that throttles their efficiency. Truck operators are paying the government in taxes over $1,000,000 a day!

BENEFITS OF TRUCK TRANSPORTATION

Ocean-fresh fish in Iowa, fresh vegetables right off the farm in mid-winter for the northern householder, reduced inventories because of quicker delivery of parts and materials for the business man, cheaper paper, timber, ore, and a nation whose mobility is the greatest the world has ever known—all due to motorized transportation.

Read these bills and they seem harmless enough on the surface. But dig deeply into them and what do you find? More regulation to nullify the unparalleled economic advantages of motor transport. If a part of their plan is to help the railroads (and they should be helped wherever it is possible to do so without penalizing other forms of transportation) they do not even accomplish this.

The public has not demanded this additional regulation. Certainly the people would be the ones injured.

The nation can well ask itself: "Why have we deserted the fundamental principle that regulation should only be in the public interest? Why must we have regulation that stifles honest competition—the very soul of the American system?"

JOLIET'S OLDEST LIVING GRAD HAS ONE MAN REUNION

Represents Many Classes at Police Showup.

The Joliet penitentiary classes of '97, '99, '17, '23, and '28, and the Michigan City prison class of '04 were represented in a reunion yesterday at the police showup—all in the person of George Tiemann, Joliet's oldest living grad.

George Tiemann.

Mr. Tiemann has reached the ripe old age of 76 and represents a small package of 95 pounds, practically all mischief. This white haired little party has passed 28 of the last 43 years in prison, and at a stage where many citizens of his generation are thinking of old age pensions he still is winning his own way by one means or another.

This time he was taking advantage of young and foolish persons a mere 60 years of age or less by displaying a collapsible cardboard egg carton which would hold the regulation dozen eggs if he had any eggs to put in it.

A Financial Project.

"Wonderful, isn't it?" Mr. Tiemann would remark to his prospects. "How happy you must feel to have the opportunity to buy a few shares at $1 in the manufacture of this handy little gadget, which soon will spread to all parts of the world where the humble hen exists."

Mr. Tiemann obtained several backers before the Hudson avenue police began to hear murmurs. It was a surprise to the police, who thought he still was serving a term of one year in the Bridewell for passing bad checks. But Mr. Tiemann had got out Dec. 28. He turned immediately to his egg carton to establish himself on a sound footing.

A Record of Evil Doing.

As a record of persistent evil doing, Mr. Tiemann's past performance is cause for wonder. It follows:

Jan. 21, 1897, sentenced to Joliet prison; May 9, 1899, paroled; Aug. 30, 1899, returned for violation of parole after passing bad checks; April 20, 1903, discharge; Nov. 13, 1903, sentenced to from 1 to 14 years in Jeffersonville [Ind.] reformatory for forgery; Oct. 10, 1904, transferred to Michigan City penitentiary; Nov. 27, 1909, paroled; Jan. 19, 1911, 30 days in the Bridewell for confidence game; June 22, 1917, Joliet penitentiary, confidence game; Sept. 30, 1922, paroled; Sept. 21, 1923, 60 days in the Bridewell, confidence game; Nov. 26, 1923, returned to Joliet for violation of parole; Aug. 6, 1934, discharged; Oct. 5, 1928, sentenced to Joliet, forgery; Jan. 4, 1937, discharged, and Dec. 28, 1938, 1 year in the Bridewell, passing bad checks.

After yesterday's showup this record was extended to include three complaints of obtaining money under false pretenses.

TEST YOUR HORSE SENSE

Below are questions for a woman to ask herself and then answer about her husband. Each question has a maximum score—indicated in parenthesis. However, any number of points less than the maximum may be noted:

DEMERITS.	MERITS.
1. A "Little Jack Horner" type—always trying to show off before people. [6 points.]	1. Ambitious—works or studies on his own time to gain promotion. [30 points.]
2. Fails to come to table promptly when meal is ready. [6 points.]	2. Handy about house fixing iron, vacuum, hanging pictures, etc. [6 points.]
3. Reads newspaper at the table. [6 points.]	3. Courteous to wife's friends. [6 points.]
4. Unmannerly—careless at table, eats with knife, etc. [6 points.]	4. Has a date with his wife at least once per week. [30 points.]
5. Fails to bathe or change clothes and socks often enough. [6 points.]	5. Occasionally leaves car for wife on day she will need it. [6 points.]
6. Flirts with other women when out with his wife. [30 points.]	6. Consults wife's opinion regarding important business and social affairs. [6 points.]
7. Compares wife unfavorably with his mother or other women. [30 points.]	7. Reads newspaper, books or magazines aloud to wife. [6 points.]
8. Addicted to alcohol. [30 points.] If ever drunk. [30 points.]	8. Willing to go shopping with wife. [6 points.]
9. Teases wife about her fatness, her slowness, her poor judgment, etc. [6 points.]	9. Makes guests feel welcome—an interesting entertainer. [6 points.]
10. Monopolizes radio on Sunday, as for athletic broadcasts. [6 points.]	10. Waits up for wife or calls for her after a party or meeting. [6 points.]
Total demerits.....	Total merits.....

Now subtract total demerits from total merits and interpret score as follows: 0 to 27, very poor [failure]; 28 to 43, poor; 44 to 61, average; 62 to 80, superior; 81 and up, very superior.

New York, Jan. 7 (AP).—Margaret S. Santora, 40 years old, leaped 80 feet to her death today from the elevated train structure at Broadway and 125th street. Pinned to her slip were $48 in bills and in her handbag was a bank book showing a $2,394 balance.

ILLINOIS LAGGING ON FILLING CCC JANUARY QUOTA

Illinois is lagging far behind the nation in filling its January quota of 5,602 Civilian Conservation corps enrollees, Carl H. Martini, Illinois Emergency Relief commission certification officer, said yesterday. He attributed the shortage of applicants to the upturn in private employment.

"James J. McEntee, acting CCC director, has estimated there will be 167,000 applicants for the 61,000 CCC vacancies which will be filled in the United States this month," Martini said. "In Illinois, however, and especially in Chicago, there is a lag in applicants for this quarterly enrollment.

"We are trying to make sure that all youths in relief families who are eligible will choose to go to camp."

CHICAGO COUPLE HELD AS INDIANA LIQUOR RUNNERS

A Chicago couple were seized last night by Indiana state police at Ligonier, southeast of Elkhart, and accused as alcohol runners. They were riding in a specially built sedan with reinforced rear springs to support a heavy load. In the machine, police said, were 45 five gallon cans of bootleg alcohol.

Policeman Fred Leeson sighted the car traveling at high speed. He overtook it. The driver, Mike Battiato, 27 years old, gave a fictitious Chicago address. His companion said she was Eleanor Marc, also of Chicago. The car was traced to Tom Martell, 6103 Evans avenue. Police here were told he was out of the city. Battiato said he had met a man in a bar in Chicago who offered him the job of driving the alcohol to a distributing point outside Pittsburgh, Pa.

Police in Ligonier said it was the 45th bootleg cargo they had intercepted in the last year. Battiato and Miss Marc were held while federal agents in Washington, D. C., and Chicago police examined the couples' finger prints and photographs.

CHILDREN'S Frequent COLDS

✓ For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves congestion of upper air passages—eases soreness of chest and back muscles—helps the youngster relax into healing sleep.

✓ For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue to relieve the irritation. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest.

✓ For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested treatments.

DU PAGE COUNTY TO SEIZE GOODS OF TAX LAGGARDS

Revive Old Revenue Law on Personalty Levies.

Delinquent taxpayers of Du Page county, who owe more than $1,000,000 in unpaid personal property taxes, have only one week more of grace. Beginning Jan. 15 County Treasurer Walter I. Youngberg will start action to seize their personal property and sell it at foreclosure to satisfy the tax bills.

Youngberg said last night he will proceed under a seldom used authority, which has been contained in the general revenue act for several decades. It is a right which originally was given to the old township collector.

Revive Old Tax Law.

This empowers the treasurer, or township collector, to issue what is known as a collector's warrant. The warrant, served on a tax dodger, states that he has 10 days to pay all of his past due bill. If the bill is unpaid at the end of the specified time, Youngberg explained, the treasurer is empowered, without bringing suit, to seize the delinquent's personalty and sell it.

This method occasionally has been used in some of the smaller counties, but rarely by any township collectors in Cook county. The Cook county treasurer attempted such a plan in 1925, but abandoned it because of widespread complaints.

"When I took office a year ago," Youngberg said, "I discovered that more than $1,000,000 is owing on personal property tax bills for the last eight years.

"So I looked around for the easiest, simplest, and cheapest method of collecting the taxes. And I found the old collector's warrant. Every delinquent in the county has been sent two notices. Now I intend to act."

2,000 Warrants for Starter.

Youngberg said he will send out a corps of special deputies a week from tomorrow with the first batch of 2,000 warrants.

"Once we get started," he said, "I expect our office will be swamped with people rushing in to pay their bills."

Youngberg said the worst offenders were Chicagoans, who have dodged personalty bills for many years in the city, and who have moved to Du Page county in the last decade.

Last year 62 per cent of the 1938 personalty tax bills were collected. The year before the total was 59 per cent.

Youngberg is one of the first county treasurers to institute the new instalment plan for paying delinquent real estate taxes.

Delinquent taxes on real estate in Du Page county for the last 10 years amounts to $5,000,000. Of the $117,000 scheduled for instalment payment, $40,000 has been paid to the treasury, he said.

Home Novelties

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Ten thousand furniture dealers and buyers are expected in Chicago in the next two weeks for the winter furniture and home furnishings markets which open today in the Merchandise mart and the American Furniture mart.

The 1940 furniture comes in several new tones. Mahogany has a new oxblood color, a deep red. Walnut has a gray mauve bleach resembling rosewood. Maple ranges from champagne to brown, and oak is shown in a rich, golden brown.

Traditional shapes are abandoned in the modern field. A table in the Merchandise mart assumes the form of a curved triangle and a desk resembles a flatiron. Combination units, such as bookcase, desk, and chest in one piece, are shown.

SURVEY REVEALS 37,216 NAMES ON STATE'S PAY ROLL

21,565 Not Under Civil Service, Lund Learns.

collected $108,161,810 more in the year ended June 30, 1939, than in the year ended June 30, 1933. Lund, to prove his contention that this additional revenue is not used for relief and old age assistance, drew up the following table of expenditures for certain items:

	Year to end June 30, '40.	Year ended June 30, '33.
Relief	$ 48,000,000	$ 9,307,000
Old age assistance	12,000,000	.....
O. A. A. deficiency	6,750,000	.....
O. A. A. increase to $40 maximum	1,750,000	.....
Education	25,500,000	15,545,000
Motor fuel tax allotments	28,000,000	13,017,000
	$122,000,000	$37,869,000

This table is used by Lund to show that in the year to end next June 30 the state will have spent only $84,131,000 more on the items listed than it did in the year ended June 30, 1933, while its extra collections for these purposes were $108,161,810. This would leave a balance of $24,030,810, which, Lund said, should be in the state treasury as surplus—but isn't.

"The $24,000,00- is part of the sum squandered on political pay rollers," he asserted. "In this table I gave the state every advantage possible, but still the figures show why the state totters on the edge of the red ink bottle despite enormous taxation."

FIRE DESTROYS $15,000 WORTH OF STORAGE BEER

Barreled and bottled beer valued at $15,000 was destroyed last night when fire attacked a storehouse in the rear of the West-Lin Distributing corporation, 1700 Elston avenue. The fire spread thru the second and third floors of the three story structure and damaged 13 trucks on the first floor. Bernard Borst, secretary and treasurer of the company, estimated the total loss at more than $20,000. Four hundred barrels of beer and 3,000 cases of beer were lost. Fireman Helmer Anderson was injured.

WELLINGTON "TOLD THE WORLD"

in recent advertising the real meaning of that "new" hair at the edge of the forehead and temples. Men have always known when they could see a spot on the crown or thinness at the temples that baldness would follow.

But countless thousands believed when they saw the "new" short hairs around forehead or at temples, that now their hair had started to grow and fill in again.

Let us repeat: That "new" short hair is from the same hair root which used to produce a hair of normal length. It has gotten shorter with each re-appearance until it is very short and cannot go on without help, may not appear again, and the hair line will go higher.

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL

Announces

An Important Advance in Magazine Editing—

Living Answers

to America's Questions . . . in the great new story of America . . . "HOW AMERICA LIVES"

To TELL this story required the development of an entire new technique of woman's magazine editing. A technique in which department editors, writers, photographers, cameras and equipment go speeding to all parts of America, to land, perhaps, next door to your house.

For beginning with the February Ladies' Home Journal, which will appear on the newsstands Wednesday, for the first time in history the departments of a woman's magazine will be edited each month from INSIDE a representative American home, meeting to the full all the practical restrictions of every-day life.

What is "How America Lives"?

Each month "How America Lives" will make friends for Journal readers with one of the "families next door" in all parts of America. Each month it will show, with words and pictures, how one real American family lives, the intimate details of its daily existence.

And each month the Journal will move, temporarily, into one family's home, work out LIVING ANSWERS to its problems . . . so that many of the pages of the magazine which are devoted to problems of living—cooking, decorating, beauty, fashions, homemaking, gardening—will appear in personalized, case-history form.

"How America Lives" will appear in continuous pages in the middle of the magazine, following those devoted to fiction, articles, and special departmental features.

Scope

Each month a different family will be visited in "How America Lives." Families at different stages in their careers, at levels above subsistence, in widely separated localities and environments. A rich man's household. A fruit rancher's family. A bride and groom. A family of "new-Americans" in Detroit's great industrial area.

Some are already chosen; some are still statistical dots on a map. Young, old, rich or poor, from nearby or far away, the people shown in "How America Lives" are as real, warm, and American as pumpkin pie right out of the oven. They are America, showing the problems of living common to millions of other families.

Why—in the Journal?

Because such problems are primarily women's business, the Journal—currently America's fastest growing magazine for women—has developed this new, more satisfying and inspiring kind of editorship to answer them more practically and fully than has ever before been possible. In the stories of these families, and in the LIVING ANSWERS to their questions, the Journal will write the Continued Story of America as it has never been done before.

It is a story rich in drama and human interest — full of the Romance women love—the Realism they demand—the LIVING ANSWERS to the questions being asked in 30,000,000 homes in America.

How Will LIVING ANSWERS Affect Readership?

Because it is the magazine women believe in, the Journal is reaching more women today than ever before in history, has doubled its newsstand sales in 4 years . . . now attracts a circulation of well over 3,100,000 women.

LIVING ANSWER Editorship, the Journal's newest contribution to American publishing, establishes a closer relationship between readers and magazine than has ever before been possible.

It supplies to departmental pages an authenticity never previously achieved in any publication . . . more intense "wall-to-wall" and "cover-to-cover" interest in the Journal, which should be of benefit to all other participants in Journal pages.

Don't miss the first issue of "How America Lives." On Wednesday, in the February Journal, it will reach the stands.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concerns. Hence, therefore, it must be unwise in us to implicate ourselves by artificial ties in the ordinary vicissitudes of her politics or the ordinary combinations and collisions of her friendships or enmities."—From the Farewell Address.

MR. HULL PROTESTS TO BRITAIN.

Secretary of State Hull has told the foreign office in London that Great Britain will be held responsible for American ships taken off their courses and into forbidden war zones and British ports. A ship bound for Norway was seized. If one while in British custody hit a mine and lost its crew the responsibility would not be light, and it would be British.

Mr. Hull also has told the foreign office that the United States does not admit the right of the British authorities to interfere with American mails and that the practice of taking the sacks from vessels which ply between American and neutral ports is particularly objectionable. He gives instances. American mail has been opened and examined when addressed to persons in Belgian, Scandinavian, and Netherlands cities. The letters were taken from ships compelled to enter British ports for cargo inspection.

These practices were objected to in the world war and at that time the serious charge was made by private interests that the British were using the censorship of American mail for their commercial advantage. That accusation may have been unsupported by fact, but the interference with mail was provocative of suspicions of all sorts.

Our whole case against British violation of neutral rights then was carried on in a letter writing which got nowhere and was terminated by the American entrance into the war on England's side. Mr. Lansing, then secretary of state, disclosed later that he thought it the duty of the United States to fight Germany and that in all negotiations he had been guided by this feeling. That is the state department precedent in the light of which Mr. Hull's correspondence will be read.

In the first interchange of the renewed controversy the British have replied to Mr. Hull that his communication is receiving careful consideration. Even when the intercepted mail gets thru to its destination, the delay, particularly for Americans in Germany, has been as much as two months.

A strong belligerent always presses his advantages to the full and in dealing with a strong neutral relies upon the dilatory methods of diplomacy to prolong the negotiations without giving satisfaction, and also upon influences in its favor in the neutral government to refrain from any really vigorous methods to support protests. The present good will of the United States is invaluable to the British and French and they probably will first test out the sincerity of Mr. Hull's objections and discover, if they can, just how far the American government is prepared to go in insisting, as it could, that its ships and its mails be respected.

SHAKING DOWN THE UNIVERSITY.

The University of Illinois has a minor construction job, the installation of pipes in a tunnel connecting campus buildings with a new heating plant. After receiving bids from contractors the university's building engineers estimated that money would be saved if the university did the work itself. They proposed that union plumbers regularly employed by the university be used to supervise a force of union men hired for the specific job.

The international officers of the Plumbers' union, at Washington, vetoed the proposal. When the university refused their demand that the tunnel job be given to a contractor they called a strike on three other construction jobs on the campus. This was done without a strike vote by the Champaign local of the union, whose members were working on the three building jobs and would have been hired for the tunnel work.

It does not appear that members of the Champaign local would have received any more work if the job had been given to a contractor, inasmuch as the university's regularly employed plumbers would have acted in a supervisory capacity, doing the work that the contractor would do. The sole purpose of the strike appears to be to force the university to give its business to a contractor approved by the union.

There is no substantial difference between the strike at the university and the recent murder of Marinus Hvid, the Chicago garage owner. In each instance the union was exerting force, not on behalf of its members, but on behalf of a group of employers. At Champaign the union used a legal weapon, the strike, in a manner which, if it is not illegal, is certainly against public policy. In Chicago the force was that of murdering goons.

Labor unions claim exemption from the laws punishing monopoly. Within limits the claim has justification, but unions persistently refuse to confine themselves to those limits. The organization of all the specialists in one craft in a union creates a monopoly the purpose of which is to exact a certain price for work in that craft. Such a monopoly is not only legal, but is encouraged as a matter of public policy.

The union which has a monopoly of a certain skill should be under somewhat the same obligation as that resting on a public untility, to furnish the services of its members to every one under equal conditions. The union that fails to meet such an obligation is stepping outside its exemption from prosecution. This it does whenever it gives a certair group of employers a monopoly of its members' services, or uses its power, legal or illegal, to "police the industry" and wage warfare on the competitors of the employer group with which it has made a deal.

Such deals between trade unions and employers' associations, designed not to maintain wages for the union members, but to maintain prices for the employers and shield them from competition, are conspiracies and should be prosecuted as such.

SENATOR TAFT TO MR. ROOSEVELT.

Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, one of the Republican candidates for President, who was challenged by Mr. Roosevelt to say how the budget could be balanced, gave his answers in a speech before the Chicago Bar association. The New Deal has gleefully assumed that no opposition would dare propose the trimming of any part of the great structure of subsidies, grants, loans, and gifts with which the present administration has covered the country.

The New Dealers believe that they have engaged the interests of so many millions of American citizens, individually and by classes and organizations, that no one could lay what would be called profane hands on the bounties without instantly feeling the anger of the persons affected. It is the political theory of the New Deal that any one who would propose to reduce substantially the outflow of federal money would be defeated for any office he sought, and that opposition, realizing the danger, will never dare present such a plan. The borrowing, the spending, the continuance of deficits, and the increase of debt are, therefore, well protected politically, according to this estimate.

The New Deal believes that the people are bought up and it would be suicide for any party of opposition to announce that national expenditures were to be cut until they came within revenue. If this theory were founded on fact the only thing that could stop the growth of debt would be national bankruptcy. Republican opposition does not take that view. Mr. Taft did not. He says that federal expenditures can be reduced and they can be reduced by cutting down on the subsidies and grants which Mr. Roosevelt and his counselors believe are politically untouchable. Without injury to the destitute economies can be made in relief, extravagant public works can be stopped, useless federal projects can be discontinued, experiments in social reconstruction can be dropped, and by reorganization of bureaus and the elimination of superfluous services the residue of federal activities can be economically and not wastefully conducted.

Mr. Taft said that the first essential for a reduction in spending is the will and determination to effect it. There is no such will or determination in the present management of national finance and the reason for this is not hidden. Present fiscal policies of the federal government are not, in truth, the product of emergency and national necessity. They are the instruments by which the New Deal seeks to reach its major objective. Debt, deficit, borrowing, and excessive spending are the four legs of the Trojan horse. On these four legs the New Deal moves toward the state management of productive capital.

The theorists, planners, and designers of the future New Deal state have never made a secret either of the purposes to be achieved or the methods by which it is to be done. They control the destinies of this attempt to establish the planned society. The contradictions in Mr. Roosevelt's statements and acts in seven years of the administration of federal finances may be explained by the fact that he talks as Mr. Roosevelt, but he acts as Berle-Tugwell-Corcoran-Cohen-Amlie-Norris. Thus he promises that the budget will be balanced, but each year he acts to increase the debt, to increase the deficit, to spend more money, and to gain a greater control over the investment of capital.

The tax laws, administered under interpretations as injurious as possible to private enterprise, discourage adventure and risk taking. Idle money is sterile in the banks and in government borrowing it finds its largest outlet into activity. That means that government enterprise becomes the big business of the country and private enterprise becomes secondary to it. The designers of the New Deal say that this is the best economic development for the United States. They will be the bosses of the new order. They say that private capitalism has served its purposes in human affairs and, altho the mass of unperceptive people in this country do not perceive it, the present order is passing away just as the feudal system passed away.

The economic and fiscal policies which the New Deal was able to adopt in distressed times can, in the opinion of these idealogues, advance the advent of the new order by generations if they are persisted in. That is why there is no wish, will, or determination to bring national expenditures within national revenue, no desire to reduce the deficit, and every desire to increase the debt. The process brings the productive wealth under the control of the planned society. Control of the industries will follow control of the money, and the new economic order, in which private capitalism expires, creates itself.

OLD HICKORY WOULD SQUIRM.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The attitude of Republican congressional leaders toward accepting the invitation to attend the annual Democratic Jackson day dinner appears to have been adequately expressed by Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr., the house minority leader:

"I haven't made up my mind because I am always suspicious of Greeks bearing gifts."

Jackson day dinners given by New Dealers are jokes at best.

Old Hickory believed in keeping government expenditures well within government income.

And he also believed in keeping legislation and administrative acts well within the plain meaning of the constitution.

Would Andrew Jackson feel comfortable at a dinner given in honor of an administration that has raised the national debt in seven years from $22,000,000,000 to $42,000,000,000?

Have you stopped to think what Chicago will be like as a football center next fall? The Maroons gone, De Paul gone, Loyola gone—and Northwestern has only four home games scheduled. . . . If professional football is destroying the intercollegiate brand, as this situation suggests, where will the cash and carry teams find their All-American recruits in a few more years?

Anyway, the Chicago stage is forging ahead. Three openings this week, and a little bird tells us that one of the ghost theaters may reopen soon with a New York hit. The odd thing about this revival is that John Barrymore seems to have done it, with one of the sloppiest, free hand, extempore, ad lib., line forgetting performances ever given by a professional actor.

A SHIP GOES SAILING.

Nothing lovelier than a ship
May one hope to see
Whitely out of harbor slip,
A cargoed mystery.

Crowned with gulls and tall with pride,
It sails in majesty,
Oblivious of wind and tide,
Down rivers to the sea.

I follow its slow rise and dip
A lovely thing, a long white ship,
Trailing a gray smoke plume!

Branding Iron for Cub Reporters.

Milton Fuessle, afterward ghost writer for Elbert Hubbard, and still later famous advertising copy writer, was a cub, on either the Journal or the News. The frightful Cherry mine disaster occurred Nov. 22, 1909, and he was sent there.

He slogged up the track in the freezing rain of a dismal November dawn. At the pit mouth were gathered hundreds of women, children tearfully clinging to their skirts.

Stretcher squads came up, each with its dead. Fuessle rushed to the telegraph office and put his introduction on the wire:

"God sits on the side of the hill in Cherry and judges the quick and the dead."

A Word for Sneerers and Smearers.

If you want the prize definition of a prig, pass up Webster, the Oxford, and all the other big dictionaries and consult "Modern English Usage," by H. W. Fowler. It's long but worth reading. Here you are:

"Prig is a word of variable and indefinite meaning; the following, from an anonymous volume of essays, may be useful:

"'A prig is a believer in red tape; that is, he exalts the method above the work done. A prig, like the Pharisee, says, "God, I thank Thee that I am not as other men are"—except that he often substitutes Self for God. . . . A prig expects others to square themselves by his very inadequate measuring rod, and condemns them with confidence if they do not. A p. is wise beyond his years in all the things that do not matter. A p. cracks nuts with a steam hammer; that is, calls in the first principles of morality to decide whether he may, or must, do something of as little importance as drinking a glass of beer. . . . All of his different characteristics come from the combination, in varying proportions, of three things—the desire to do his duty, the belief that he knows better than other people, and blindness to the difference in value of different things.'" AN OLD HOSPITAL CLOSES.

Now silence hovers where no silence was
Despite all efforts to enthrone it there;
Where doctors labored to remove the cause,
And nurses toiled upon an endless stair.
At night, the shades that haunt your empty rooms
Listen intently for the rumbling cart
With shrouded burden trailing potent fumes,
And for the bells that made the night nurse start.
Within your walls dark tragedy has stalked
Hard crowded ever by newcoming life;
Relief has smiled there; taut suspense has mocked,
And mirth slipped slyly thru, 'tho pain was rife.

You gave your best; but now your fires are cold,
And yours the common fate; you have grown old.

THE PUZZLE OF HEADACHE.

NOT long ago one of my doctor friends who gives most of his attention to diseases of the nose and throat reminded me that relatively few victims of head pain could ascribe their trouble to the air passages. To be sure, some of the causes may be found within the airways and this region must not be overlooked; but by and large the blame lies elsewhere.

Obviously, the physician who feels that he can make a diagnosis "at sight" without a careful study of the patient's history and general physical findings will miss far more frequently than he hits the mark. There is probably no manifestation that is more elusive—indicating that something is wrong. At the same time, it may take far more skill to spot the inciting factor than to recognize gall bladder disease or even a stomach ulcer.

We may assume that most medical men know where to look and—first of all—the digestive tract must be given a thoro going over. Next will come the possibility of eyestrain including errors of refraction. Later, infection within the sinuses and nervous disorders, such as migraine, neuralgia, and exhaustion, should be investigated. Of course, in rare cases, brain tumors or abscesses are responsible. Infectious maladies need not be considered here.

Ofttimes there is a combination of causes and it is quite reasonable to assume that an alimentary tube upset may be associated with numerous other weaknesses, all of which means that all parts of the body must be regarded as interrelated. If we assume that the symptom is due to the absorption of some toxin, relief can come only if we are able to find where it is manufactured and then get rid of the factory. But there are hundreds of hiding places to uncover; in fact, so much may have to be done in the search that the patient may well wonder why so great a fuss is made about so simple an ailment.

Here is a typical case: A well known lawyer wound up a prolonged trial with a persistent headache which lasted for three weeks. He would waken fairly early in the morning in pain which increased in intensity during the day. With scarcely a moment of freedom from discomfort he faced his physician worn and fatigued. He admitted a fair amount of sleeplessness, constipation, and nervous tension. A careful analyis showed that he was swinging around in a vicious cycle. For several weeks he had been unable to obtain adequate rest, meals were irregular, and—because the internal apparatus had not been called upon to perform regularly and properly—the entire digestive system had gone on a strike. In addition, examination of the eyes showed marked muscle fatigue.

It required ten days of rest in bed to reorganize his body functions and repair the wear and tear occasioned by his ordeal. Apparently his withdrawals from the bank of reserve force had been far too extensive.

But sinuses can be at fault and they may give rise to a constant dull throbbing that is less bothersome whenever the nasal discharge is profuse. While most of us will evince some signs in the presence of an acute cold, these chronic sufferers will be helped by increasing drainage.

More often than not we may look to intestinal disorders—or what we formerly termed "catarrh of the stomach." As a rule, the tongue will be heavily coated, particularly in the morning, the breath foul, and constipation may alternate with diarrhea. In these cases nothing works quite so well as semistarvation, with the menu limited to relatively small amounts of well mashed, course vegetables. An evacuation once or twice daily may be accomplished with the aid of an enema. Water drinking is encouraged, especially on arising in the morning.

Of course, migraine [typical sick headache] is quite another story. Fundamentally of nervous origin it must not be treated on the assumption that something has been eaten that has disagreed with the patient. Fortunately for these individuals we have ergotamine tartrate which is of assistance in a reasonable percentage of cases.

MASSAGE MAY HELP.

A. M. writes:

1. What causes jowls and an uneven jawline?
2. Can this be corrected?

REPLY.

1. Jowls usually mean that you are living off the fat of the land. Thin people have no howls about jowls. Uneven jawlines are family characteristics. Advancing age, however, may increase the flabbiness of the facial muscles—hence jowls.
2. Massage and facial treatments will help. Watch your diet.

USUALLY NOT.

M. S. writes: Is a loose kidney serious?

REPLY.

As a rule not. Should the ureter [the exit tube which leads to the bladder] become kinked, the kidney may be damaged. An operation—anchoring the organ—is advised occasionally.

HUMIDITY.

N. B. writes: Do pans of water on radiators supply humidity to a room?

REPLY.

Yes, but a generous number will be required. Note how frequently they will require refilling. Plants will help.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran [Persia].—Some time ago the municipality of Teheran notified the proprietors of public baths that they must take immediate steps to convert the existing common public baths into "numbered baths,"—cubicles with sprays. These have been gradually converted, not only in Teheran but in all the principal towns of Iran. The old system consisted of a large reservoir of heated water built at one end of a huge hall paved with flagstones and the roof supported by thick stone pillars.

Light penetrated thru round glasses fitted in the domes of the hall. There was an anteroom for dressing. People on entering sat on the floor and water was brought to them in large copper vessels by attendants. After washing themselves they entered the reservoir and went thru the prescribed "ghosl," immersing themselves three times completely and then leaving.

The depth of these reservoirs was not more than three feet. Nevertheless, the water sometimes was not changed for many months. Moreover all kinds of diseased persons used the reservoir.

The new system is another example of the great evolution taking place in Iran.

L'Academie Iranienne, founded by imperial decree, also is actively engaged in purifying the Iranian language. It is preparing a dictionary which will contain Iranian vocabulary only, banishing all European and Arabic words and replacing them with new Iranian words. Every new word is first submitted to Riza Khan Pahlevi, shah of Persia, for approval before it is recorded.

There is a national library at Teheran which contains 16,306 volumes in various languages. Last year it acquired 1,763 new volumes.

Moreover, the shah has ordered that the books in the imperial library be duplicated and added to the national library. When this is done the latter will be enriched by about 15,000 volumes.

A large modern opera house to accommodate over 2,000 persons is under construction on one of the main thorofares of the capital, on a site which, during the reign of Shah Naser-ed-Din, housed the royal horses, coaches, and an elephant.

The municipality of Teheran has approved the expenditure of 1,900,000 rials [about $111,765] to pave streets with asphalt and for other improvements. The asphalting of Pahlevi avenue, on which is situated the palace of the shah, up to Tajrish, a summer resort, already has been completed.

The paving of Teheran streets and the laying of sidewalks is a blessing compared to the narrow streets which were covered with six or eight inches of mud in the winter and as much dust in the summer.

Another important improvement is the lighting of streets. A few years ago main roads were lighted by small tin kerosene lamps which threw a dim light a yard distant and always went out before midnight, leaving the streets in pitch darkness. Now there are good electric lights on high cement standards in almost every part of town. Current is supplied by a large electric station recently installed just outside Teheran on the road to the aircraft factory.

A general order also has been issued by the government providing that all buildings on main streets be of two or more stories. Owners now are carrying out the order by building flats over their ground floor shops.

MORTGAGE PAYMENT.

Chicago, Jan. 4 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. A mortgage of $5,000 has been paid off. I have been told that it would cost over $300 to get that mortgage released, not including attorney's fees. Is that true? This property was sold to one party and they did not pay, but they sold it to another party and they did not pay the mortgage off.

2. The property went back to the original owner and was then transferred to me. I have paid the mortgage off. They say that is why it cost so much to get a clear title for me. Is that the truth or not? MRS. L. E. J.

1. Ordinarily the release is obtained from the trustee named in the trust deed at a fee of about $3. Your question implies that exceptional difficulties have been encountered, hence we cannot advise without having the surrounding circumstances.

2. You do not state the facts on which this statement is based. If the property was originally conveyed to the first purchaser, and was never reconveyed or foreclosed, then court proceedings would be necessary in order to get the title out of his name. This is entirely different from the question you ask under No. 1. We advise you to employ an attorney.

If the papers are in the usual form of notes secured by a trust deed you should, at the time of your final payment, secure from the holder the last coupon and principal note, the trust deed, the guaranty policy or other evidence of title, and fire insurance policies. You should take these papers to the trustee named in the trust deed and secure from him a release deed, which you should record. You should also have him endorse on the mortgage rider on the fire insurance policies the words "My interest in this policy has ceased," with his name. You are in a better position than we are to estimate your capacity for handling such steps for yourself.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PENSION.

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 3 [Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If a person is receiving a pension from the state: At his death does the state take from property the amount of pension paid to date?

2. If the person has only insurance, does the state take out amount of pension to date? C. T. T.

1. If you mean the old age pension, then the accumulated payments would be a charge against any estate that the recipient owned at his death.

2. If the insurance policy is worded to be payable to a named beneficiary then it would not be a part of the estate of the insured, but if fraud was involved in maintaining the policy this might affect the answer. The pension administrative officials are in a better position to advise you than we are. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

THE SUPREME EDUCATORS.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—The decision of the trustees of the University of Chicago to drop intercollegiate football gives the university an opportunity to make a really great contribution to the cause of education. As educators the football coaches in our universities stand head and shoulders above their colleagues.

The football coach has a very difficult subject which he must know and also be able to demonstrate. It is a subject which is in a rapid state of development. The keenest minds are constantly at work upon its myriad problems. The rules which govern the subject, together with rulings, are not only very numerous, but are subject to constant modification.

His pupils, often characterized by other members of the faculties as not particularly bright, must be trained in every detail of the course so that their knowledge can be brought to bear, not after a period of reflection, but immediately—automatically. Decisions must be made upon a split second's determination.

Intricate plays must be developed, plays more abstruse than the problems of Euclid, and they must be mastered, not by a few star pupils but by every man on the squad. In addition, the coach must build up courage, morale, a willingness to coöperate with others [the great problem of democracy], loyalty, and self-sacrifice.

All of this the coach and his staff must do. If the coach fails in the slightest particular he is thru. The press, the student body, the alumni will immediately pounce upon him and out he will go.

He cannot say "well, 90% passed" or that "they mastered the principles of the course." He cannot look wise and say that parents who question his methods are meddlesome busybodies who know nothing or put out a lot of pseudo-scientific jargon invented by himself or his fellows as a cover to ignorance.

The great opportunity now open to the university is that it can now transfer Coach Shaughnessy and his competent staff to the school of education. There they can set up an educational clinic and demonstrate proven educational methods which, if adopted, will soon make it the most outstanding school of education in the country. But more than that, if these methods should be adopted by the university as a whole, it would be able to revolutionize education in this country.

AN OLD GRAD.

FROM THE BOY SCOUTS.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—At a meeting of the executive board of the Chicago council, Boy Scouts of America, a resolution was approved expressing appreciation to THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE for its coöperative spirit in connection with the Chicago council during 1939.

We have been continually conscious during the year of the fact that your paper has considered the Boy Scouts of Chicago as a local enterprise worthy of your backing.

We hope that we will continue to justify the faith that you have had in us.

May we take this opportunity to express to you our wish for a happy New Year? W. ARTHUR MCKINNEY, Scout Executive.

FROM PRINCIPAL O'HEARN.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—At an R. O. T. C. assembly today at the Steinmetz High school, medals of merit were awarded by patriotic organizations to some of our cadets for outstanding service.

I am always impressed at these times by the incalculable assistance and inspiration that has been given by you to the entire R. O. T. C. movement. The organization has become one of the most potent agents in the development of patriotism in our Chicago high schools, and a great deal of this influence can be laid to your efforts. D. F. O'HEARN. Principal, Steinmetz High school.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—I just listened to President Roosevelt address the congress of the United States and two things in particular impressed me: He emphasized very strongly that he did not expect the United States to get into the war, but he insinuated that all persons who insist that there is no reason why the United States should become embroiled in this war are like the ostrich that hides its head in the sand. In other words, it is ridiculous to believe that we should not get into the war, which he asserts that he definitely expects us not to get into.

Then again he denounces those persons who are not in full agreement with his administration and therefore see fit to criticize it, but he remains silent regarding communists and the friends of the communists in this country who have so diligently striven to change our form of government during his administration. DANIEL ANDERSON.

ON SHIP SCUTTLINGS.

Bloomington, Wis., Dec. 30.—Many persons have lamented the great financial loss incurred thru the scuttling by their crews of the pocket battleship Graf Spee and the luxury liner Columbus. All this in spite of the fact that both ships were owned by a foreign government.

During the last seven years millions of Americans have been indifferently watching the politicians scuttle the greatest ship ever conceived and built by the mind and hand of man—the American Ship of State. L. H. B.

MEANING OF THE HVID MURDER.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Marinus Hvid is dead. Free enterprise dies with Marinus Hvid. The goon is more than a murderer. He is the tool of commercial and industrial tyranny. P. S.

How Our States Got Their Names

1. ALABAMA.

There are two principal theories as to the origin of Alabama's name. One is that it comes from the Choctaw Indian words "alba," meaning thicket or vegetation, and "amo," meaning to clear or reap. It is possible that the Choctaws regarded the Creek Indians, their neighbors, as an agricultural people and gave them this name in scorn.

The Alabama state seal. On it are a shield and an eagle bearing a scroll with the motto: "Here we rest."

Another theory is that "Alabama" comes from the Indian word "alibamo," meaning "here we rest." According to this story, a band of Indians fleeing an enemy came to the banks of a river and said: "Alibamo." The words "Here we rest" have become the state motto. Whatever the origin, the name Alabama was used as long ago as 1540. Alabama became a state on Dec. 14, 1819.

Alabama has been nicknamed the Cotton Plantation, Cotton, Lizard, and Yellowhammer state. The first two explain themselves. The third was given because lizards were once numerous, and the fourth, either because of the home dyed yellowish gray uniforms worn by confederate soldiers or because of the large numbers of yellowhammer birds in the state.

The state song is "Alabama," the state flower the goldenrod, and the state bird the yellowhammer.

New Dealers Accused of Laying Smoke Screen.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—With the assembling of congress and the submission of Mr. Roosevelt's legislative program the paramount issues of the approaching presidential election are becoming more sharply defined. In terms of the Republican indictment of the New Deal the outstanding domestic issues are:

1. Spending: The expenditure of billions of dollars of government money as a device to prime the business pump has proved a failure and the continued expenditure of several billions a year in excess of revenue will plunge the country at no distant date into bankruptcy, repudiation of the national debt and inflation of the currency.

2. Business: The New Deal's antagonism to private enterprise has paralyzed initiative, inspired fear of the future value of the dollar, discouraged investment and altogether prevented the revival of business activity that would end unemployment, restore the purchasing power of consumers and thereby provide recovery of prosperity.

War May Become Issue.

Another issue of enormous import may be added by developments in the European war. If by next fall there should appear to be a possibility of the United States being called upon to decide whether it should intervene in the war in order to give more tangible aid to Great Britain and France the reaction of the voters might profoundly influence the outcome of the election.

President Roosevelt in his message to congress last week demonstrated that he is in favor of aiding Britain and France in every manner short of sending American troops abroad. Republicans contend that such a policy is liable to embroil us in the war, that the author of such a policy could not be trusted to keep us out of war.

President on Defensive.

In his messages to congress the President patently recognized that he is on the defensive. He endeavored to justify New Deal policies and to placate critics of the unbalanced budget by making a showing of decreased expenditure and of a diminished deficit for the next fiscal year.

The National Economy league charged today that "misleading classifications" in the President's 1941 budget conceal the fact that the expenditures estimated by Mr. Roosevelt instead of being 8½ billion dollars total more than 9 billions with receipts of 6 billion 100 millions.

According to the Economy league's figures the 1941 deficit will be 2 billion 800 millions instead of the 1 billion 700 millions estimated by the President.

Defends Deficit Financing.

"Once again," said Ernest Angell, president of the league, "we are confronted with a confusing array of billions of dollars for expenditures, billions for taxes and new billions of debt, as the President presents to the congress his budget for the fiscal year 1941, which begins July 1. There is no encouragement in the President's assurance that we need have no fear of the vast increase in the debt. On the other hand, his pleas for continued spending increase our fears.

"It is apparent from the budget message that the administration has no intention of 'moving toward' a really balanced budget in the near future. This is the appalling fact which stands out in almost every paragraph of the President's message.

"A large part of the message is given to a defense of deliberate methods of deficit financing which have been in effect for nearly seven years.

"Let us pierce the smoke screens which have been cast about the fiscal maneuvers planned for the coming year. The obvious need for building up our naval and military resources is used as an excuse for the failure to bring about a balance in the coming year. National defense expenditures are to be 320 million more than in the current fiscal year and about 700 million more than they were in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1939.

"Studies made by the National Economy league show that economies far in excess of this increase in national defense could be made in relief and public works if we had the courage and the foresight to revamp our methods of unemployment relief to a truly economical and humanitarian basis and to give up pump priming theories.

Charge Account Shifting.

"Another smoke screen is the shifting of accounts to make total expenditures and the deficit seem less alarming. Up to this point, expenditures for the old age retirement fund have been included in the general budget. In the budget as now presented, this important item disappears. This omission, to be sure, is offset by deductions from receipts of an approximately equivalent draft on pay roll taxes.

"A third smoke screen appears under the general category 'means of financing the deficit.' This applies both to the current fiscal year and to the proposals for next year. For example, it is estimated that in the current fiscal year, the treasury will draw down its general fund balance by 1 billion 150 million and so reduce the amount that must be borrowed to meet the deficit. For the coming year it is proposed to 'squeeze the fat' out of government agencies, like the RFC, by extracting 700 million dollars from their surplus funds.

Called Surface Expediency.

"In other words, to meet an immediate emergency, the capital funds of these corporations will be drawn on to help reduce the deficit. This, of course, is only the surface expediency of drawing down capital to meet running expenses. It is also urged that additional taxes of about 460 million dollars be levied to offset part of the increase in national defense expenditures."

These are devices, says Mr. Angell, for avoiding an increase of the 45 billion dollar debt limit. With the debt now standing at 42 billions, the limit will be reached in another year unless the new taxes are voted.

DICK TRACY—Full Pardon

Fail to Agree on Deficit

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—Disregarding the "misleading classifications" in the budget submitted by the President last week, showing a prospective deficit of 1 billion 700 million dollars for the 1941 fiscal year, the National Economy league, employing the treasury basis of accounting in effect thru 1939, shows in the following table that the actual deficit will be 2 billion 876 millions. The tabulation is for fiscal years, ending June 30:

	1939. Actual.	1940. Estimated.	1941. Estimated.
Expenditures [including old age benefits]	$9,216,000,000	$9,636,000,000	$9,027,000,000
Receipts [including all pay roll taxes]	5,668,000,000	5,701,000,000	6,151,000,000
Net deficit	$3,542,000,000	$3,932,000,000	$2,876,000,000
MEANS OF FINANCING DEFICIT.
Surplus of government corporations			$ 700,000,000
New taxes			460,000,000
Draft on general fund	$ 262,000,000	$1,150,000,000
Debt increase	3,280,000,000	2,782,000,000	1,716,000,000
Total	$3,542,000,000	$3,932,000,000	$2,876,000,000

SOUTH TO ASK RAIL RATE PLANK AT CONVENTION

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 7 (AP).—Freight rate parity discussions, long a fighting subject in the south, may enliven the Democratic national convention when it takes up the task of writing a platform for the 1940 presidential campaign. At least one delegation—Georgia—will press actively for a freight parity plank. Spokesmen for two others—Arkansas and Louisiana—said they would lend support to the move.

The south has complained it costs less to ship manufactured goods from the so-called "official" territory in the east to southern and western markets than to haul the same goods in the opposite direction.

SLATTERY HEADS LIST OF JACKSON DINNER SPEAKERS

In the absence of Gov. Horner, United States Senator James M. Slattery, who will be his running mate if both seek renomination in April, will be the headliner at the Chicago Jackson day dinner in the Palmer House tonight.

Senator Slattery will share the spotlight with Mayor Kelly, who is on his way from Florida to attend the dinner. Senator Scott W. Lucas is expected to attend and, because of the governor's absence, may be added to the speaking program. Judge John F. Bolton of the Superior court will be toastmaster. P. A. Nash, national committeeman and county chairman, has been in Florida and probably will not attend.

Those in charge of the dinner estimate that, with 1,500 tickets sold, approximately $30,000 will be raised for the treasury of the national committee. The tickets are $25 each and the profit is estimated at $20 a ticket.

Quebec Women to Get Vote; Last in Canada Without It

QUEBEC, Que., Jan. 7—Women in Quebec will have votes before the next provincial election, according to a statement made today by Premier Adelard Godbout. Quebec is the only one of the nine Canadian Provinces in which women are not yet allowed to vote. "The question of female suffrage will be brought up in the coming session of the legislature," the premier said. "I do not see how there can be any serious opposition to granting women the vote and I believe I can say it is certain that they will have it for the next election."

SNODGRASS WINS SPEEDY RACE OF FLIVVER PLANES

A Fellow Iowan Finishes in Second Place.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Jan. 7.—The most popular types of flivver airplanes in the United States, planes of the types that took part in the great aircade last week, were raced against each other here this afternoon in a contest reminiscent of the days when stock model automobiles were pitted against each other in road races. The race was the feature of the last day at the all-American air maneuvers.

Roger Wolf Kahn.

The winner was Jack Snodgrass of Waterloo, Ia., flying a 1940 Taylorcraft with a 45 horse power Continental motor. His average speed was 105.255 miles an hour, 6 laps of a 2½ mile course. This is surprising speed for the puddle-jumper type of airplane, particularly since the course was swept by a stiff wind. In previous races for the putt-putt types of planes, speeds of only 95 to 98 miles an hour have been registered.

Another Iowan Is Second.

Second place went to Ellis Eno of Fort Dodge, Ia., in an Aeronca 65 at 102.093 miles an hour. Guy A. Ham of Hatchville, Mass., was third at 100.375 miles an hour in a Luscombe, and Art Carnahan of Bloomington, Ill., was fourth at 99.404 miles an hour, in a Stinson 105.

The day's flying was a continual headache for Roger Wolf Kahn, the former band leader and sportsman pilot who has been chief timer for most of the country's air races in recent years. The race just described was incorrectly calculated and the times of the participants were twice announced before the correct figures were obtained. Then the woman pilots held a race from the Miami municipal airport to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., a round trip distance of exactly 50 miles.

All machines entered were stock models and relatively slow, but exactly 11 minutes after the race started Mrs. Edna Gardner Kidd of New Orleans flashed back across the airport in her clipped wing Monocoupe, claiming that she had finished the race.

Something Is Wrong.

Kahn figured her average speed and discovered that, if her claims were true, it was 249 miles an hour. This was impossible, for the Monocoupe's maximum speed over a short course is only 180 miles an hour. Two of the other three woman contestants finished the race some 20 minutes later by flying behind the timer's stand where they were unobserved in other aerial traffic. Only Mrs. Muriel Lemon of West Palm Beach, flying the slowest ship, a Great Lakes trainer, finished the race as it should have been flown. Kahn wasn't able to announce any winner last night.

The final race of the day was a race for commercial planes with motors of 550 cubic inch displacement. There were only four entrants, and Russell Holderman of New York won it at 198 miles an hour in a twin motored Lockheed 12, with two Wasp Jr. motors.

WOMAN SAVES 4 CHILDREN FROM FUMES IN FLAT

Mrs. Helen Bertleff heard strange noises early yesterday in the basement apartment below her own flat at 2649 Burling street. She went down to investigate, and, peering thru a window, found the kitchen of the flat filled with smoke.

Mrs. Bertleff broke the window and then awakened her husband, Charles. They found the four children of Mr. and Mrs. George Bakka—Edward, 8 years old; George, 7; Audrey, 6, and Robert, 5, lying on the kitchen floor. All had been overcome by fumes from an oil burning heater.

The Bertleffs carried the children upstairs, and then summoned a physician and a fire department rescue squad which revived the children. Soon afterward the parents, Mr. nad Mrs. Bakka, returned from visiting friends.

3 SCHOOLS HONOR BEST CADETS IN PROGRAMS TODAY

Honor cadets in R. O. T. C. units of three Chicago high schools will be decorated today for distinguished work in military training during the semester. These military ceremonies, which began in the high schools last week, will continue this week until all of the 35 units in city and suburban schools have taken part.

This morning Marshall High school and Schurz High school will hold assemblies, and this afternoon the biggest program of the week will be held at Lane Technical High school, where 39 cadets will be honored.

Nearly half of the 225 cadets to be decorated will receive gold and silver awards for all around excellence, given twice yearly by THE TRIBUNE. Other medals will be given by the war department, the American Legion, the Reserve Officers' association, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Daughters of the American Revolution, and neighborhood organizations.

ASTOUNDING SUN SPOTS OBSERVED; EFFECT UNKNOWN

Santa Clara, Cal., Jan. 7 (AP).—Dr. Albert J. Newlin, director of the observatory of Santa Clara university, reported today the spots which appeared on the sun yesterday were the most astounding he had seen in 30 years of daily observation.

He said they were unusual also in that they were in the sun's northern hemisphere rather than in the southern half. Because of this he declined to make any prediction as to their probable effect on earth. The spots were so large that they were visible to the unaided eye thru haze in St. Louis.

Dr. Newlin said spots appearing in the past in the sun's southern hemisphere have been accompanied by marked weather disturbances and interference with radio communication.

LANDON BELIEVES 3D TERM PLAN HAS BEEN GIVEN KNOCKOUT BLOW

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 7 (AP).—President Roosevelt's 1936 opponent believes any plans for a third term nomination are washed up.

"He couldn't get the nomination now if he wanted it," Alf M. Landon said in an interview today, "and the President is too smart a politician to try it."

Landon asserted efforts to link the international situation with a third term boom have failed.

"The well organized scheme of a small group to promote a draft Roosevelt movement did not catch fire," he said. "There are too many sincere, conscientious Democrats who believe against a third term for any President with all their heart and soul."

The administration's budget balancing plans for the new session of congress are a sign that the President will not seek reëlection, Landon thinks. "If the President really is serious in his budget plans, you will hear howls all over the place," he added.

CABERY WOMAN DIES IN FIRE; FIVE STORES BURNED

Cabery, Ill., Jan. 7 [Special].—A woman burned to death today when five buildings in the central business block of Cabery were destroyed by fire. The victim, Mrs. Mary Jane Hallam, 60 years old, was in her upstairs living quarters over the tavern she owned when the fire started in the kitchen downstairs, apparently from an overheated stove.

The volunteer fire department, supplemented by equipment from Kankakee and Princeton, battled the fire which spread to a grocery, an electrical store, a barber shop, and a hardware store. All the buildings were two stories, two of frame construction and three of brick.

Young Couple Kidnaped by 3 Gunmen and Robbed

An hour's ride with three young gunmen was the experience last night of Richard Meister, 23 years old, 3260 North California avenue, a chauffeur, and Miss Norma Shea, also 23, of 9 West Maple street, a clerk. They were kidnaped in their own car by the hoodlums at Pulaski road and West End avenue, shortly after they had left the Paradise ballroom, near by. The bandits put them out of the car at 47th street and Archer avenue after taking a small amount of money from them. The robbers returned 14 cents for carfare.

Walter Pach.

He knows Matisse, Picasso, Jacques Villon, Marcel Duchamp, Braque, John Sloan, and nearly every great living painter, as he knew Ryder and Renoir and Rodin and Duchamp Villon, who was killed in the world war, and many others, as well as all the great collectors and critics of the 20th century. And altho we listened, absorbedly, to Walter Pach, artist, critic, author, and kindly gentleman, lecture on The Art of the European Race at the Arts club Saturday morning, we wished he might have gone on talking, not academically, but recounting luminous memories.

We would have liked to hear him quote the sardonic poem by Rouault, for instance, in which the French artist proposed that France pay her war debt to America by taking down Notre Dame, stone by stone, and setting it up on the banks of the Mississippi. We want to know what he and Modigliani talked about when they played chess together; and to hear his own version of the great international art exhibit of 1913 at the Art institute, which he helped assemble—the show where Duchamp's Nude Descending the Staircase practically rent the town asunder, and Matisse was parodied as Henry Hair Mattress and his nudes burned in effigy by Art institute students. We would have liked to hear about the evening in Henri's studio when Yeats, just arrived from Dublin, talked of the new drama and poetry in Dublin and read aloud his Playboy of the Western World.

Some of these things Pach tells in his Queer Thing, Painting which came out two years ago. His most recent work is a study of Ingres; and other well known books of his are his Journal of Eugene Delacroix and his translation of Elie Faure's History of Art.

Pach, blue-eyed, with a walrus mustache, has a kind of sensitive tact that augurs well for his new job, that of directing the art exhibit for the second year of the New York World's Fair. He succeeds Dr. Wilhelm R. Valentiner of the Detroit museum, his friend for 30 years, who cannot spare the time a second year to devote to the world's fair art show. While he was in Chicago Pach had several talks with Daniel Catton Rich. One of the things Pach hopes to do is to exhibit Rembrandt and his circle, "which the Chicago Art institute did so admirably a few years ago," Mr. Pach added.

He went to see Rembrandt's Girl at the Half Open Door yesterday afternoon.

"It's one of my favorite paintings," he said. And asked whether he was going to try to get that for the world's fair show, he answered that his conscience interfered with such a request.

"I hope to get my originals from private collections that are not before the public, so as not to defraud gallery goers," he said.

ChicagoNeedle Artists Enter New York Show

BY JUDITH CASS.

HALF a dozen or more of Chicago's most expert needlewomen will be represented in the fifth annual exhibition of Amateur Needlework of Today to be held in New York Jan. 17 to 27. Mrs. Kent S. Clow is in charge of the pieces that will be sent east from Chicago.

Mrs. Clow is one of several out of town chairmen coöperating with Mrs. William W. Hoppin of New York, who founded the organization to promote interest in needlework as an art. The throngs who will be admiring Mrs. T. Phillip Swift's contribution to the show won't be able to deny the interest or the art in the exhibit. Mrs. Swift is showing a stunning flower rug she has made for the powder room of her Lake Forest home. It is a combination of soft colors and beautifully mounted.

Mrs. Charles Garfield King's Entry Given to Friend.

A rug Mrs. Charles Garfield King will exhibit will remain in New York, for it is to be a gift to a friend. Mrs. Robert J. Thorne's table runner and Mrs. Harvey Austrian's carpet bag of Victorian design are two other charming pieces going east. Mrs. Charles S. Dewey Jr. will exhibit a prayer book she made for a godchild who lives in Baltimore.

Mrs. Clow expects that Mrs. Marshall Ludington Brown, the former Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, will send a shell pattern carpet bag, and that Mrs. Charles F. Ayer, who now lives in New Rochelle, N. Y., will show two stamp books. One book has the design of a 1 cent stamp on the outside. The other bears a 2 cent stamp design.

Mrs. Clow, who is leaving for New York today for a week's visit, hasn't heard definitely from Mrs. Brown or Mrs. Ayer. The exhibit will be held at W. & J. Sloane's, 5th avenue and 47th street. The proceeds from the show again will go to the New York Association for the Blind, Lighthouse No. 1.

Dearborn Seminary Reunion to Be Jan. 17.

Another year has rolled around, and again the 162 women who went to the old Dearborn Seminary are planning a reunion. The school went out of existence more than thirty years ago, but the loyal alumnæ still meet once each year to indulge in reminiscences and to make plans for the several scholarships they support. The meeting always is held, if possible, on Jan. 17, the birthday of the founder and first principal, Zuinglius Grover. This year's reunion will be at 11:30 o'clock at the Fortnightly on Wednesday, Jan. 17.

Miss Florence Bartlett is to talk on "The Brilliant Beauty of New Mexico" at the luncheon that will follow the meeting. Among those who will listen to her are Mrs. Ferdinand W. Peck, who was graduated in 1866, and Mrs. Cornelia W. McLaury, who finished at the seminary two years later. They are the two oldest living alumnæ.

Drama League to Give Supper for Massey.

The Chicago Drama league has invitations out for a supper party next Sunday for Raymond Massey and other members of the "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" company. The party will be given at 7 o'clock in the gold ballroom of the Drake hotel. Nathaniel Leverone is to be the toastmaster.

"Abe Lincoln in Illinois" opens tonight at the Grand Opera house. Tomorrow night will be a gala one, too, for the men's board of the Northwestern university settlement has taken over the house to raise funds for the settlement.

The directors of the Woman's exchange will hold a marked down sale this week at the shop in North Michigan avenue. Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, Miss Helen Gurley, and Mrs. A. Hill Whiting are among those active in managing the sale.

Foreign Relations Council Hears Edgar Mowrer Today.

"Eyewitness in France" will be the subject of a talk Edgar Ansel Mowrer will give at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at 12:30 o'clock today at the Palmer House. Mr. Mowrer just has returned from France. He will be introduced by Donald F. McPherson, president of the council.

At the speakers' table will be Mrs. Mowrer, Mrs. McPherson, the Howard Fentons, the Clarke J. Lawrences, Miss Alice Roullier, and the Lawrence Howes, among others.

Mrs. Charles S. Dewey will be the especial guest at luncheon at the Chicago College club at 12 o'clock today. After the luncheon Mrs. Dewey will speak on "Paris Evacuated."

Mr. and Mrs. Warner M. Washburn became the parents of their third child, a daughter, on Dec. 29 at the Evanston hospital. The baby, a granddaughter of the Warren A. Lamsons, has an 8 year old sister, Jean, and a brother, John, who is 6.

The Robert H. Reids, who spent the holidays deep sea fishing in the waters off Havana, returned Saturday. Their son, John Crerar Reid, visited a Hill school classmate, John Hunter, in Jacksonville, Fla., during the Christmas vacation.

Mrs. Edwin C. Bolton, who came from Detroit to spend New Year's with her sister, Mrs. Oliver Dennett Grover, will remain here for another week.

Coat Bargains Among Finds of the Month

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Members of the bargain brigade aren't the only smart shoppers snapping up the finds of the season. For the many who sew their own clothes the yard goods assortments are the lure. And then there are the smart persons who select next spring's costumes and accessories from the lavish showings of southern resort fashions these days. With all the new colors, all the daring ideas in materials, new color clashes, new textures, and new accessories, the shopping bingers have set records in sales volumes.

The markdowns on extra topcoats, the bargains on fur trimmed winter suits and coats, the rather unbelievable bargain prices for fur trimmed travel coats of bright big plaids or strong clear color, liberally furred down the tuxedo front, and the warm, flattering high collar, are other tempting finds for the appreciative January shopper.

Fur jackets and fur swaggers suddenly have become desirable. It's a slick time to buy a new model, for these, too, have the additional lure of a red penciled markdown price tag. So have the muffs, tippets, and pelerines and scarfs, from the double affairs to the six or eight skin combines.

The first crisp, bright colored silk prints are here—in clever, young looking daytime dresses with short sleeves, in the bolero and dress combines, with the bolero boasting long sleeves in some models.

These prints are just what you need to revive a slightly bored winter wardrobe. They slide under long fur coats and winter cloth coats, and provide enough color dramatics to give any one a first good whiff of spring fashions.

Printed silk daytime dresses are softer in detail, more flattering in printed design. The designs are set against contrasting colored backgrounds of lapis blue, caramel, beige, copper, leaf green, and black. But tobacco brown designs against dull black are still the most subtle combination! The designs are neat and small, and do not "spread" the figure of the wearer.

Constance Bennett Decorates Out-of-Date Coward Comedy

BY CECIL SMITH.

In the matter of Constance Bennett's first appearance on the legitimate stage there is no need to hedge much or to retreat into tangential, if sincere, tributes to her modish and well designed clothes. Not many Hollywood-bred actresses, emerging from the protective glamor of photographic art into the three dimensional reality of the theater, have succeeded in making an equally promising first impression.

As much as the labored script of "Easy Virtue" lets her, she pitches into her job with a will. Except for her initial mistake in agreeing to appear in it, she cannot be blamed because Noel Coward's creaking and singularly unsparkling comedy—now 15 years old—presents her with no special challenge beyond a couple of extended opportunities to lose her temper. In the thinly spaced moments when the play is real and appealing, Miss Bennett also is real and appealing.

Hers is a communicative personality, and she possesses a spark of histrionic authority which may, one of these days, be fanned into a flame. The fanning process, however, will require a director who can school her further than Hassard Short evidently was able to in a host of necessary artifices of timing, pace, and nuance.

Except in her big moments of temper and plain speaking, Miss Bennett chooses to conceive of her main function as a decorative one. Despite her fragile proportions—98 pounds, they say she weighs—she is pictorially beyond cavil. She always looks right, whether she is making a theatrical entrance wearing a string of rubies as big as pigeons' eggs, or merely reclining on a sofa.

As you may have gathered, there is not much to say about "Easy Virtue" as a play. For all its alleged "modernization," it has lost whatever usefulness to the theater it may once have had. The plot places Miss Bennett in conflict with the conservative, insular British family of her husband [Richard Ainley], at whose ancestral seat she has come to live. This theme is a dead issue, for surely an attractive, intelligent American woman and even an unusually hidebound British family would make a point of getting along better in 1940, things being what they are. At least you can't persuade an American audience to believe otherwise nowadays. It is only too bad that Mr. Coward's wit, in the instance of "Easy Virtue," was not more copious and durable.

A functional cast, rather than a brilliant one, supports Miss Bennett. Reginald Mason, a distinguished veteran, and Jeanne Dante, a young actress with technique as well as charm, make a good deal of two sympathetic parts; and it is a relief to run across some likable people in the dramatis personæ. Mr. Ainley has an engaging stiff waisted youthfulness. Viola Roache and Mary Newnham-Davis, both quite sure of their intentions, project conscientiously a pair of characters of studied loathesomeness.

The sophisticated modern Broadway interior carries no hint of a conservative English country place. But then, the setting is no more of an irrelevancy than the whole idea of taking "Easy Virtue" down from the library shelf.

"The Hot Mikado," starring Bill Robinson, opened at the Auditorium theater last night. It will be reviewed Wednesday morning. The première of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" occurs tonight at the Grand Opera house.

The Girl in the Shadows

By Roy Vickers

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

FAIR TRIAL.

The jury shifted in their seats and looked embarrassed, avoiding the stricken eyes of the girl in the dock. They were beautiful eyes—dark blue, with long shadowy lashes—set widely apart in a delicate face. The sensitive lips were pressed together as if closed on a cry of protest. "If ever a woman looked truly innocent that one does," thought a jurywoman uncomfortably. Nevertheless, she knew she could have subscribed to no other verdict.

"Does learned counsel wish to address me in mitigation of sentence?" asked the judge.

Counsel rose, determined to do his best, and he began with a sop to the judge.

"Your lordship's summing-up was so fair to my client that I have nothing to say on the facts of the case." The judge nodded his approval. "But I do most earnestly submit that my client's own interpretation of them is a true one—namely: that she had not the least idea what she was really doing. The alleged murderer who has not been apprehended—the man Rory Clarke—is known to be a polished and entertaining scoundrel. She did not know that he had killed the deceased and altho she undoubtedly helped Clarke to escape she did not know what it was she was helping him to escape from and she did not know what was in the bag she carried for him. In short, I suggest that, at the worst, this is a borderline case that may commend itself to your lordship's leniency."

The judge tapped lightly on the blotting pad with his pencil, while he deliberated. Five taps and he had made up his mind.

"Clara Brown—if that is your name, which I confess I doubt—you have had a fair trial. You accepted the escort of the man Clarke, on your own admission—tho he had not been socially introduced to you.

"This man took you to a theater and then, for supper, to a form of night club. You are not a particularly ignorant and unsophisticated young woman and you must have been aware that this club was not a respectable one, and you ought to have insisted on leaving. You let him leave you alone in an alcove for over 10 minutes. When he returned you were able to observe that he was in a state of agitation. He told you to follow him and you did so—but not to the door by which you had entered. You followed him to the back of the premises. There was a commotion and the lights went out. Clarke then thrust a small bag into your hand, showed you an exit at the back of the premises, and told you to meet him at a tube station in half an hour. You must have been fully aware that you were assisting in an unlawful enterprise.

"If I believed that you had taken an active part from the first in a conspiracy to commit murder and to steal £4,000 worth of diamonds, I would inflict a heavy sentence. I do not so believe. At the same time I am unwilling to let you off with a merely nominal punishment. If I were to do so, it would pave the way for any young woman, or any young man for that matter, to do very much what they pleased and then plead that they had been led astray by bad companions. You will therefore go to prison for 18 months. Next case."

The girl who had doggedly asserted that she was Clara Brown managed to leave the dock without the assistance of the wardress, but at the foot of the little staircase in the well below she fainted. They laid her, gently enough, upon a long wooden table.

Consciousness soon seeped back. She heard voices, distant at first, then beating in her brain like hammers.

"Hullo, who's fainted?"

"It's all right. Only a convict."

Only a convict! Five days ago she had been a busy fashion-artist, earning a modest income which provided her with a nice little flat, becoming clothes, and as much gayety as she had time for. The ring on her left hand—the pledge of Michael Alloway's love—shone as magically in her eyes as on the day he had put it there. A comfortable little legacy, intact in the bank, awaited transmutation into a wedding dress, a trousseau, a stack of monogrammed linen—all the delightful things that go with the very thought of a wedding.

Perhaps there would be no wedding. Michael might well feel it impossible to marry a convict, even if he believed her story, believed that at worst she had been gulled by the man Clarke.

The man Clarke! The nightmare horror Clarke! The handsome, entertaining scoundrel who had introduced himself to her in the waiting room of an advertising agency and had claimed acquaintance with Michael. With her head full of Michael's return—in three weeks' time, and what were three weeks when one was happy and excited—she had "accepted his escort." How positively indecent it had sounded in court—when all that had happened was that, having a spare evening, she had seen no reason why she should not let him accompany her to a play for which she had been given two seats. After the show he had insisted that he must be allowed to take her out to supper. Then a wild whirl of absurdity and tragedy. The appearance before the magistrate, being committed for trial, and some one ironically assuring her that she was in rare luck because she would only have two days to wait for her trial.

She partly raised herself up. A police officer helped her to alight and the wardress who had brought her from the remand prison offered her a cup of tea.

"Drink this and you'll feel better. And if I were you I wouldn't start fretting. Eighteen months isn't so much at your time of life. You won't have to wait here long—you're going on to Honebyker presently."

Honebyker! Everything now seemed a fresh jolt! Her imagination had only just grasped that she had probably lost Michael—now she began to realize that she could not, without revealing her true name, communicate with him in time to stop him coming from Malta to marry her. Her blind instinct on arrest had been to save her name from scandal, and so she had invented "Clara Brown" and had stuck to it firmly, knowing that it would correspond to the monogram on her clothing. But Honebyker!

Honebyker was the new prison with wings for both sexes. And only 10 days ago dear, loyal old Bessie Stockley had written to announce her appointment to its female staff!

Dear Bessie! Since babyhood the course of their lives had run oddly parallel. Cynthia Brentiford had been born in her father's manor just four days before Bessie Stockley had seen the light in the cottage that for generations had been allotted to the head gardener. Lady Brentiford had not survived the birth, and on the completion of his little daughter's first year Sir John, with rare good sense, had picked up the fretful, delicate child and taken her and her toys down to the cottage on the edge of the estate, where Bessie was crawling happily about. "She needs young company," he had declared, and the immediate increase in her vitality proved his words. Five years later rosy cheeked Mrs. Stockley had succumbed to an epidemic and the positions were reversed—Bessie came to share Cynthia's nurseries and her first lessons. As the little girls grew up a physical resemblance was noticeable between them and Sir John would mischievously recall the legend of a lovely ancestress who had eloped, over a hundred years ago, with Giles Stockley, the handsome groom, and—" The truth will out," he twinkled, patting Bessie's sturdy arm.

CONFIDENCES.

It was very quiet and the few lights that burned made little pools of brightness among the deep shadows. Old Sang was slipping back and forth between the kitchen and the great dining room, serving a larger dinner that the one which he had evoked from a spare tire twenty-four hours ago.

There were dark shadows under Pat's eyes, and there were times when her lips were trembling. But memories of pain and sorrow and danger were already easing off. And Leonard was beside her. Now and again she slipped her hand into his, and at such moments the memories departed entirely, her mind turned toward the future.

Louis Mestres was talking, a different Mestres from what she had seen the night before. Just enough trace of Spanish in his accent to make it charming. And he was, she noted with some gratification, wearing a more becoming suit this evening.

"No," he was saying, "there isn't any fraud about me at all, Leonard. Born in Buenos Aires, just as I told you yesterday. And that pickpocket, he was also true. I've known some queer people. Of course, there were some things I didn't tell you, my friend: my own work with the federal government in the City of Mexico, four years in the University of California where my people sent me—that was before the revolution. But you've got to acknowledge that we two didn't have much time to exchange confidences. You were too busy running into trouble."

"There are," said he, "some things I didn't get. About this dope. And the two gunmen that killed the soldiers."

"All tie in with Kent," Mestres told him. "There was drug running, there's always been some, and probably always will be. But none out here, at least none to speak of, until the mine began to take on a big pay roll. Just about that time the Mexican government got wind of things and sent me to San Ilario to make an investigation. And when I got there I found Mrs. Sebastian. She'd come to do undercover work for the American narcotics division, and she'd established that night club.

"Meanwhile, Kent came along and found the smugglers fighting with one another. He organized them. And it happened that he had connections in Los Angeles—that's where those two precious gunmen came from. Originally Chicago, then Detroit, and the City of the Angels.

"When he and the paymaster laid their plans for the holdup he got hold of them and saw to it that they dressed up in cowboy clothes. I got the whole thing from my friend with the rabbit chin. Matter of fact, I was scared stiff yesterday for fear he'd get sight of me hanging around Copper City where I'd gone to pass fresh information to Mrs. Sebastian who was doing some telephoning at the time. And afterward, when we ran into that holdup, I was even more worried."

Mrs. Sebastian laughed musically. "You should have seen Leonard's face when he discovered those two talking over their table in the Casa Verdi." She shook her head. "I was worried myself just then."

"What about Kent now?" Leonard asked. "Does he stand any chance of squirming out of this?"

"Not a chance," Mestres answered decisively. "Mr. Kent won't get a ride like they were going to take you on last night. But I am betting he won't be desecrating our desert landscape a week from now. That's one thing you can give our government credit for: it doesn't waste time or money on rats like Kent."

It was some moments later when Mrs. Sebastian looked down the table and caught Leonard holding Pat's hand.

"And what," she asked, "are you two going to do now?"

Pat was flushing but Leonard was serene.

"First," said he, "get married. Then I'm going to quit my job as soon as they can find a successor. And after that we're going to work Pat's mine."

The Housewife

Children nowadays take to toy pandas as we used to take to teddy bears. They are prime favorites with both small boys and girls. Among the newest items is a panda lamp, the base being a black and white figure of the animal, standing upright, and the white parchment shade being decorated with amusing little pictures of pandas on roller skates. The color scheme of this lamp is white and black with a touch of red. And it is not a bit expensive.

I couldn't ask for a better dinner than a beef stew, properly prepared. There are few dinners more economical than the one which has as its center of appetite appeal a well browned meaty stew with vegetables.

With a stew such as this one the meal may be completed by adding a fruit salad, rolls, beverage, and cornstarch pudding.

(Serves five.)

2 pounds beef shank or neck, cut in pieces
4 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons lard or beef suet
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 small bay leaf
1 cup uncooked rice
3 cups canned tomatoes
1 small onion, minced
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper

Have the beef cut into inch or inch and a half pieces. Dredge with flour and brown well on all sides in the lard or fried out beef suet. Add salt and pepper with bay leaf. Cover meat with hot water, cover the pan and cook gently for one hour. Meanwhile, boil rice in salted water until tender and drain. Add onion and green pepper to rice and line a greased casserole with it. Fill the center with the partly cooked meat. Pour meat stock and tomatoes over the combination and bake in a 325 degree oven an hour and a half longer. The casserole should be covered.

A ragout (pronounced ra-goo) is nothing more nor less than a meat stew, well seasoned, as may be seen from the preceding recipe. If your idea of a stew omits rice and tomatoes, follow this basic recipe and make your own variations of seasonings and vegetables.

BASIC BEEF STEW.

Have beef for stew cut into cubes. Dredge with flour and sprinkle with salt and pepper (one teaspoon salt to a pound of meat, as a rule). Brown meat well on all sides in a little hot fat. This step is important for flavor's sake. If you like a whiff of garlic, add a clove to the fat while the meat is browning, but leave it in for only a few seconds. After meat has browned, add water to cover, a few peppercorns, a piece of bay leaf, and half a teaspoon of curry powder. Cook at simmering temperature about two hours until meat is tender. Add for the last 45 minutes small potatoes, carrots cut lengthwise in halves, and string beans.

Jan. 8, 1940.

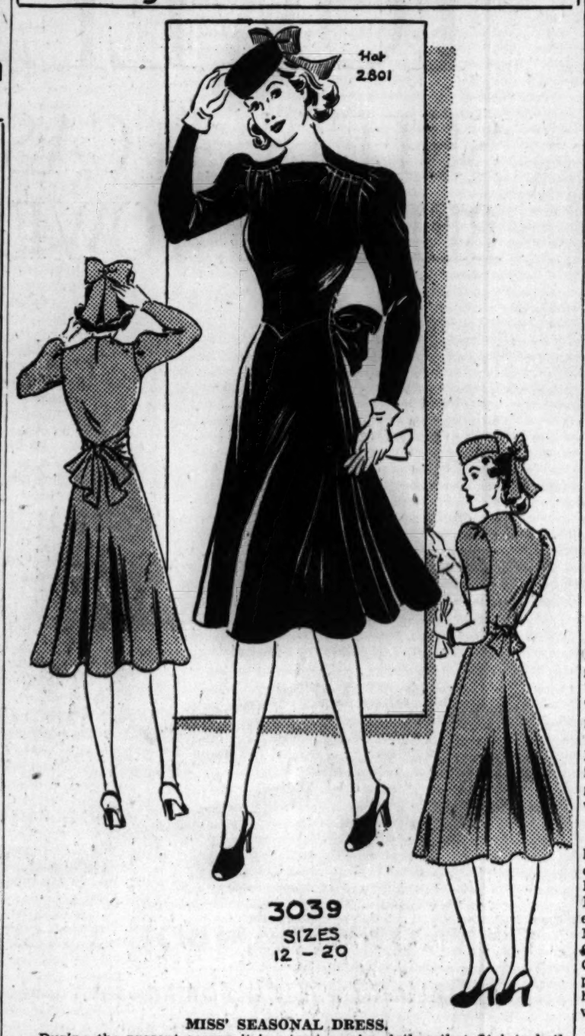

A strong day. Be constructive, aggressive, and inventive. Those born on the 8th day of the first month have a combination of numbers this year which ought to help them to be very successful and have an interesting and stimulating year. Those below the early twenties should be creative and courageous, learning life's lessons, while those above the early twenties, from 26 years or so on to the late fifties, should be gathering in material possessions, developing executive ability, and assuming power and authority. All may experience changes in 1940.

Designed for Two Seasons

MISS' SEASONAL DRESS.

During the present season it is wise to make clothes that fit into both the winter and the spring scheme of things. A dress of this type is presented today. It makes up beautifully in crêpe, colorful or black, and is flattering to slender figures. The neckline is high and heart shaped, and there are some shirrings at the shoulder seams to soften an otherwise plain bodice, which is pointed down into a slender waistline. In the back is a bustle bow, and the molded hipline gives way to a flared skirt.

A pillbox hat suitable for this frock is made with pattern No. 2801, one adaptable headsize only, available for 10 cents extra.

Style No. 3039 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material for long sleeved model.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The saddest words of tongue or pen are these: It might have been! At least your 100 per cent bridge addict is completely committed to the above sentiment after a slam is mangled in one suit only to be revealed as an obvious spread in another. It hardly helps the situation when it also is found that, altho in the wrong suit, the slam still might have been brought home with careful play. I append the tragic hand in question for your expert autopsy:

"North, dealer.

EAST

"The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 spades	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

"On this contract the diamond three was quite incorrectly opened and, had North played his eight from dummy, all would have been well. Instead, he hopped up with his queen, then had to spend his ace on West's K-boy. North then led to the dummy's heart king, and led back to his own hand with the heart five, finessing his heart jack with disastrous results, losing, all told, the heart queen and two diamonds. My claim is [a] that my partner [North] fumbled the ball in the bidding, or we might have reached six spades which spreads, and [b] even in the unwieldy six heart contract proper play would have brought home the bacon. I maintain that North should have given prompt support to my one-over-one spade by bidding three spades instead of three hearts to show the strong nature of his spade support. Failing this response, North still might have rescued the situation by calling five or six spades over my slam-inviting five heart bid. I maintain that my five heart bid, given only after North had bid and rebid his heart suit so strongly, promised only secondary support, whereas North was in position to know that the partnership had fairly solid spades. I feel that his void in the club suit should have dictated a spade bid so that club ruffs could be taken in dummy where they would do the partnership the most good.

"Partner contends that he had to rebid his six card heart suit before showing spade support, and felt that my five heart bid showed a preference for that suit over my own spades.

"As regards the play, I thought his failure to wrap up the slam inexcusable. What is your most pontifical judgment, and let the invective fall where it may.

"V. J. N., Boston."

I heartily agree that North deserves a big black mark for his failure to select spades instead of hearts as the final contract, but I am completely bewildered by South's assertion that the contract should have been made. Surely North could not be expected to divine that East had made such an amazing underlead of the jack, ten, and nine of diamonds—hence the play of the diamond queen was unequivocally correct. Then the loss of the heart queen on the attempted finesse certainly could not be criticized, inasmuch as the finesse was the percentage play. To repeat, North's final bid was terrible, but his play cannot fairly be criticized. Incidentally, North's correct second bid was not three hearts, nor even three spades, but a stronger bid in the right direction, namely, four spades.

Eastern Boy Pianist Makes Chicago Debut

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Julius Katchen, a tousled, chubby cheeked, 13 year old New Jerseyan, played the solo part of the Schumann piano concerto in Orchestra hall yesterday with the Civic orchestra. Hans Lange conducted. This was Master Katchen's Chicago debut, altho he has several eastern appearances to his credit.

He played quietly and commandingly. His phrases, especially in the first movement, were broad, dignified, unhurried, and perfectly intelligible.

However, the fact that he has hardly begun to examine the tonal possibilities of his instrument greatly lessened the expressive power of the performance. In the second movement, for instance, colorings were too matter-of-fact to carry the music's emotional meaning. Also there were a few unsolved technical problems in the third movement, where articulation in rapid passages was not clear.

The Civic orchestra played the prelude to Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" in a sonorous, straightforward manner. The orchestra has a remarkable brass section whose healthy, out-of-doors tonal qualities more than make up for anything it lacks in subtlety.

Sergei Tarnowsky, Chicago pianist and teacher, played classical and romantic music at the Studebaker yesterday. Judging by the last half of the program only, the performance did not even approach the one given by the same man in the same theater about a year ago.

In the Chopin fantasy Mr. Tarnowsky was erratic in his tempi, unpredictable dynamically, and capricious in his choice of tone colorings. He far exceeded the license which the title and character of the piece imply. The Chopin nocturne and mazurkas and études and the Chopin-Rachmaninoff variations were played with facility and authority, but with little of the heart stopping beauty of tone and urgency of phrasing remembered from last year.

The audience was lukewarm and Mr. Tarnowsky was lukewarm. The problem as to which was originally to blame for this sad state of affairs cannot be solved by one who did not hear the first part of the program.

Anne Rudolph, dancer, assisted by Bertha Fitzek and William Heyne, duo-pianists, gave a recital in the Goodman theater last night. Miss Rudolph believes that the dance is quite capable of carrying a wealth of ethical sociological overtones, and she works sincerely and expertly to convey the horror of war, the worth and democratic ideal. There were lighter things on the program, too—a humorous bit of miming and a graceful, non-representative dance to some music of Bach.

Miss Rudolph's technique is distinguished by great freedom—even fury—of motion, and by an effective use of facial expression. She is far from belonging to the dead pan school.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

A visitor to this city from the east tells us he is shocked at the quantity of rouge middle western women slap on! It's much too much, he says. And he should know, because he's one of the world's most expert make-up authorities.

Looking at the women about town with reopened eyes, we find that he's right. It's the most common error of makeup. First, too much rouge. Second, the wrong shade.

The reason many women put on so much must be that they apply their makeup under inadequate light.

Rouge should be the merest suggestion of color, and the edges should be blended ever so skillfully. Cream rouge seems beyond the deftness of some women. And to them we say, if you can't blend it, skip it. Use the dry variety; it requires much less skill.

There used to be a lot of hard and fast rules about the placing of rouge. We don't believe a great deal in such things. Individual experimentation is the best route we know of to successful and flattering rouge application.

The shade is much more important than most women realize. Rouge and lipstick should be of the same general tone, if not the exact shade. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Crocheted Hug-Me-Tight

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This unusual, crocheted hug-me-tight is made in one triangular piece and joined. That is all there is to creating one of these warm and comfortable jackets. A few balls of Shetland floss, the easy, double crochet stitch and shell trimming are the requirements for completing the hug-me-tight. A day and one half is the approximate time required for the small size. The instructions include directions for crocheting medium and large sizes.

For instructions in crocheting the hug-me-tight, No. X-395, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 230 5th avenue, New York City.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Bagdad-on-the-Pacific

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 7.—"Flu" epidemic has hit the coast. Byron Nelson, United States Open golf champ, retreated from the Los Angeles golf championship after the first round, stymied by influenza. . . . Players down with it include Linda Darnell, Brenda Joyce, Marjorie Weaver, Eric von Stroheim, Peter Lorre, Claire Trevor, Richard Greene and Director Sidney Lanfield. . . . Bette Davis insists that her protégée, Jane Bryan, will be back in pictures after her honeymoon with Justin W. Dart of Chicago. . . . The Julie Jenner-Wilbur May romance has reached the sizzling stage at Sun Valley. . . . Is June Brewster secretly Mrs. Guy McAfee? . . . Janet Gaynor will become a mother in August.

There is a glaring boner in "The Fighting 69th." George Brent says: "They've opened a hole in that wire big enough for the Leviathan to sail thru." The Leviathan didn't get that name until AFTER the war! . . . Was Stage Star Judith Anderson recently unhitched at Reno? . . . Barbara Brewster of the glamor twins and Dr. Lee Siegel will be the next Hollywood elopement. . . . Phyllis Brooks and Lee Bowman have entered the torrid zone. . . . Now it's Frances Robinson and Jimmy Bryant. . . . Bruce Cabot making passes at Carole Landis, who has plenty of it, them and those. . . . Conrad Nagel squiring Mary Treen. . . . He's the kid who scored in the latest Durbin picture.

Husband of Vivien Leigh, and wife of Laurence Olivier, delayed the divorce actions until "Gone with the Wind" had been launched successfully. Sporting, eh what? Dave Selznick refused to engage Vivien for the part of Scarlett O'Hara until he had assurance that the divorce action wouldn't strike while the flicker was being made. It didn't! . . . Frances Sage, one of the youngsters in the Hollywood stage musical hit, "Meet the People," retires from the cast to keep a date with Sir Stork. In private life she's the wife of Warner's Jules Epstein, who penned "Four Wives." . . . Maris Wrixon of the Max Reinhardt troupe, will become Mrs. Rudi Fehr shortly. . . . Director Howard Hawks prefers attractive Nancy Gross. . . . Cobina Wright Jr. and Addison Randall an item. . . . Lin Howard can't decide between Judith Barrett and Ann Graham. He's Bing Crosby's racing stable partner. Incidentally, Crosby refuses to let his children go to the race track in the afternoons; doesn't want them to see people betting!!

Randy Scott and Eleanor Powell something new in romancers. . . . Aside to Howard Hughes: Why have you got a big force of airplane mechanics and engineers working secretly at Grand Central airport? . . . Ruth Skinner has Dennis O'Keefe and Walter Brooks scowling at each other. . . . Mack Grey is whispering sweet slap-happies into the ear of Jean O'Donnell. . . . Joan Valerie has turned to young Maury Grossman, son of the golf champ. . . . Dorothy Lee will adopt a baby boy. . . . Tony Martin will get $3,500 a week for his engagement at Miami's Royal Palms.

Pictures I liked best of recent previews: Paramount's "Remember the Night," starring Barbara Stanwyck and Fred MacMurray and directed by Mitch Leisen; Lubitsch's "Shop Around the Corner," starring Cary Grant and Rosalind Russell. In a special classification, include "Earl of Chicago," the Robert Montgomery starrer directed by Richard Thorpe. I never before had a high opinion of Director Leisen's work, but this Stanwyck-MacMurray flicker is one of the most satisfying comedy dramas ever canned and shipped to the world market. It has a small town viewpoint and understanding that will make it a national smash hit. . . . Jimmy Shields, on the Fibber McGee program, will wed a Toronto girl, Audrey Nielson, in June. . . . Beth Wilson of the Grouch Club of the Air, will become Mrs. Earl Dawson next month. . . . Eddie Cantor may follow Walter O'Keefe in that air spot. . . . It is Dorothy Lamour's ma, not Dorothy, who is insisting that the Paramount press department cancel publicity of her daughter's sarong! . . . In an interview not many weeks back, Dorothy confessed that she was very grateful for the sarong that lifted her to stardom.

Good Morning!

This is a light hearted little mystery meller much on the order of the "Torchy" series.

Like the latter, it features a smart maiden who pits her cleverness against that of her boy friend in the police department. In the "Torchies" the perspicacious damsel is a newspaper reporter. . . . In "Private Detective" she's the p.d. AND, as portrayed by Jane Wyman, a most refreshing personality.

Miss Wyman has speed, snap, and a fascinating funny face.

Divorced parents, warring over the custody of a child, prospective heir to a large fortune, bring the police and Myrna into the action. . . . The father's nasty attempts to besmirch the reputation of his respectable wife cause Myrna, retained by the Lannon interests, to throw up her job and enlist in Mrs. Lannon's behalf.

When Lannon is murdered, she goes back to the detective agency, but this time on a different footing from that before. . . . Eventually she corners her criminal, but runs into so much grief doing it that she agrees to marry her nice police detective.

I feel that "Private Detective" is a tentative "feel" by Warner Brothers to see if Jane is star material. . . . I wouldn't know yet, for there's still the camouflage of the amateur. But that she DOES have talent, wit, and personality there can be no doubt.

Dick Foran—I wish they'd let him sing!—is pleasing as the somewhat dumb police inspector. . . . Gloria Dickson is effective as the distracted Mrs. Lannon. Other players stand up ably to their rôles.

Dart and Actress Bride Honeymooning in Florida

Miami, Fla., Jan. 7 (Special).—Justin W. Dart, young general manager of the Walgreen drug store chain, and his bride of a few days, Jane Bryan of Los Angeles, a movie actress, are honeymooning here aboard the Walgreen yacht, Dixonia, it was learned today. The young couple arrived in Miami by plane last Friday night, three days after their surprise wedding in Chicago.

★ On the House ★

In an increasing number of homes we see the installation of two closets in a child's room. This is especially valuable in homes which have been built without a basement.

One closet for a child's toys, and one for clothes is a big help to any mother who hasn't a playroom. Such a closet for toys should have a bank of shelves, starting from some two feet above the floor and reaching to two feet below the ceiling. The shelves can be from 12 to 15 inches from front to back and if the end cleats are wide enough the shelves can be widened as the need arises.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

George Mantha, one of the fine old gentlemen of hockey, last night scored both the goals which enabled the Montreal Canadiens to whip the Blackhawks, 2 to 1, in the Stadium. The deciding goal was made 17 seconds before the close of the final period.

This score in 19:43 of the third period was made seconds after Toe Blake had rushed the length of the rink after taking the puck out of a Hawk power play. After his flight Toe passed to Mantha directly in front of the cage and the foxy veteran brooked no interference by Goalie Paul Goodman, left on his own by the sudden turn of the tide.

Hawks Miss Chances.

Mantha also scored the first goal of the contest, putting over an unusual swipe in the first period. Cully Dahlstrom tied the count in the second period and from then on the Hawks seemed to be full of confidence until the horrible blow struck just as the lads were figuring on giving the 12,648 customers 10 minutes of overtime hockey.

The 1 to 0 score in favor of the Canadiens at the end of the first period gave the Hawks little pride in the fact they developed many more threats in the opening session than did the visitors. Shortly after the midway point in the period Art Wiebe was put off for tripping Trudell, the only Hawk penalty of the night. Art had just finished his term and the Hawks had ceased trying to golf the puck out of their defense zone, when the Canadiens got a scoring foray under way.

Scores on Backhand Shot.

Red Goupille broke up a Hawk scrum maneuver off the Canadiens' right boards and passed out to Charley Sands. Sands relayed the rubber to Mantha who was standing with his back to the Hawk goal. Mantha caught Sands' pass with a rowing motion and paddled it past Goodman for a goal. The time was 11:48 and Goupille and Sands were awarded assists.

The Hawks kept making threats in the second period, but also kept barely missing pay dirt until Dahlstrom scored the tying goal in 14:14. Ab Demarco carried the puck into the Canadien defense zone, where it had been most of the period and gave it to Joffre Desilets on the Hawks' right boards.

Dahlstrom Ties Score.

Desilets passed across the rink to Dahlstrom who saw his hard shot bounce off Goalie Claude Bourque's boots. Cully picked up the rebound and whanged harder than ever, this time hitting the nets to make the score 1 to 1. Both Desilets and Demarco were scored with assists.

Neither side showed desire to prolong the tie and some of the best action of the night ensued when Goupille was locked up on the only Canadien penalty of the game.

After Mantha's second goal, Goalie Goodman was taken off the ice and the Hawks used six forwards in the remaining 17 seconds. They got several shots, but the final siren came as the puck scooted across neutral ice.

THE GUMPS—THE OLD LADIES' EARS MUST BE BURNING

GAME BELONGS IN EDUCATIONAL PLAN, HE SAYS

Hawkeye President Likes It.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Dr. Eugene A. Gilmore, president of the University of Iowa, looks at football with the critical eyes of a distinguished educator—and he likes it. But don't get the idea that he takes a Pollyanna attitude. He sees it as a sport highly vulnerable to commercialization and abuse, yet he believes that under responsible, conscientious direction it may become a highly valuable element in the scheme of education.

There are two things a university can do with football, Dr. Gilmore said as he paused in Chicago yesterday on his way to New York. It can decide that football isn't worth the effort necessary to cope with the problems it involves, in which case it may be chucked ruthlessly out of the program of activity.

Iowa Seeks Middle.

But there's a better course, Dr. Gilmore believes—for this sport has too much intrinsic merit to be scrapped so arbitrarily. The old philosophers had an expression for it: "Media stat virtus—Virtue stands in the middle." Along this sane and reasonable middle course Dr. Gilmore and his fellow educators are guiding Iowa football, making a conscientious effort to avoid the extremes of commercialization on the one hand and abolition on the other.

"I have little patience with those who pick out individual instances to support an argument that football doesn't do a young man any good," Dr. Gilmore said. "It depends entirely on the person concerned. Some students don't get any good out of history or economics because they don't approach their studies in the proper spirit. It's true of any activity. On the other hand, if a boy is properly disposed he can derive immeasurable benefit from football. The game brings out endurance, stamina, the spirit of coöperation, the ability to take it on the chin—all of which are important in later life."

Dr. Gilmore Disagrees.

Dr. Gilmore doesn't agree with the anonymous spokesman who claimed to voice the opinion of the University of Chicago trustees in issuing a published statement to the effect that no school can play football of Big Ten caliber without violating the conference rules on subsidization and recruiting. It will be remembered that the Iowa eleven did remarkably well this last season, relinquishing its former place among the Big Ten tailenders to finish second to Ohio State, barely missing a tie for the championship.

"There were whispers here and there about the way we came up this year," Dr. Gilmore said. "But all you have to do is look at the lineup. They're the same fellows who've been around for the last couple of seasons. We were so low in the doldrums we couldn't have subsidized anybody even if we'd wanted to. We just got a new coaching staff and a new spirit."

Iowa Is Answer.

Followers of Western conference football like to point to Iowa's performance during the 1939 campaign as a particularly powerful answer to the charge that "you can't play Big Ten football without being crooked as far as the league's rules are concerned." They wonder what inducements the Iowa of three years ago could have offered the athletes who made such a spectacular showing last fall.

Those who believe in the honesty of the Big Ten setup contend that there was a bunch of typical Iowa boys, not one of whom could be called a hired athlete by any stretch of the imagination—and these youngsters not only played Big Ten football but they played it well enough to knock the ears off of some of the teams which have been at the top of the conference for years.

Dr. Gilmore has complete confidence

Vic Ronchetti of the C. Y. O. and Shirley Jameson of the Northwest S. C., 1939 Silver Skates winner, were crowned state champions in Glen Ellyn yesterday before 20,000.

Ronchetti, a subway worker, swept the men's events, winning the 440, the mile, and the five mile. Miss Jameson, a University of Illinois student, won the women's 440 and mile and placed second in the half mile, scoring 80 points to beat her teammate, Elaine Bogda, and Genevieve Swirkos of the C. Y. O., who had 40 points each.

Ronchetti cinched the title in the final event, the five mile, by nosing out Al Kucera, his clubmate. Kucera took the lead with four laps to go, but Ronchetti's spurt nipped him at the tape. George Spalten of the Northwest S. C. was third.

The C. Y. O. won the team trophy with 400 points as a result of Ronchetti's 90 points, while the Northwest Skating club was second with 350 and Glen Ellyn's team third with 180.

Freisinger Is Missing.

Miss Jameson and Ronchetti succeed Eleanor Theil and Leo Freisinger as Illinois champions. Freisinger did not compete.

Glen Ellyn's hometown hero, little Dave Roll, captured the midget boy's title. Juvenile winners were Walter Rust and Mary Allen. Summaries:

ONLY 15, SHE'LL BID FOR SENIOR SILVER SKATES

Skating enthusiasts like to recall the name of Rose Johnson. She was the winner of the first girls' senior Silver Skates Derby in 1921. Her racing stride was as strong as that of men in her age class and she moved over the ice with grace and speed.

There have been many winners of Silver Skates in the girls' senior class since 1921, but none of these champions has impressed the experts as has a junior star of the Northwest Skating club, who will seek this honor when the Derbies sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., are held Saturday and Sunday in Garfield park. Entries for the Silver Skates Derbies closed last night at midnight.

Only 15 Years Old.

The new star is the auburn haired Shirley Jane Burnett, who will be the youngest competitor in the girls senior class. She is only 15 years old, but has won Silver Skates in the junior and intermediate classes and must move into a higher bracket despite her lack of years.

Shirley has made great progress since she began skating at the age of 11. Before her next birthday she was the national juvenile title holder. She was only 13 years old when she captured the junior Silver Skates Derby, and last January exhibited courage and speed to triumph over intermediate girls, whose ages are from 16 to 17 years.

Old-timers will point out that Miss Burnett has a half dozen qualities that make her a counterpart of the Rose Johnson of 1921.

Parents Help Shirley.

Shirley's teammate, Elaine Bogda, who won the senior girls' award in 1937, has volunteered to be Miss Burnett's trainer in preparation for the big week-end ahead. Every evening after dinner the Northwest club's champion and aspirant can be seen whirling around and around the frozen Garfield park lagoon. Practice starts, turning corners at top speed and improving Shirley's stride with longer strokes of equal distance each, are just a few of the routines practiced by this pair of stars.

Mother and Father Burnett are Shirley's constant companions. They have watched her skating success with the keenest interest. Dad Burnett also helps in training chores, while Mrs. Burnett is content to be the robe holder and chief rooter for her daughter. The Burnetts live at 1317 Estes avenue in Rogers Park.

HEAFNER HOLDS L. A. GOLF LEAD; JOHN DAWSON 2D

54 Hole Totals Soar in Heavy Rain.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 7 (AP).—Clayton Heafner of Linville, N. C., continued to set the pace in the annual Los Angeles open golf tournament today, shooting a 73 for a 54 hole score of 212.

Heafner played his round in drizzles and occasional downpours, but the late finishers, including E. J. [Dutch] Harrison of Little Rock, Ark.; Wilford Wehrle, Chicago amateur; Jimmy Hines, and a few others, waded thru the last six holes during a cloudburst.

Harrison Requires 76.

Any chance Harrison had of catching Heafner was washed away by the rain. He took 76 strokes to get around the par 70 course for an aggregate of 216.

Heafner started the round with a one stroke lead over Harrison and Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y. At the finish he held a two stroke lead over Johnny Dawson, former Chicago amateur, who forged forward with a 71, and a three stroke lead over Hogan, Alvin [Butch] Krueger of Beloit, Wis., and Mark Fry of Oakland, Cal. Hogan slipped today to take a 75 and Krueger rallied with a 71.

Wehrle, first day leader, blew himself to an 83 for 224, while Olin Dutra of Los Angeles, and Harrison stayed in the running at 216.

Scores Hole in One.

The first hole in one ever scored in the 15 years of the tournament was shot by Harry Nettleblatt of Framingham, Mass. He sank the ace on the short 15th, 140 yards from tee to cup. He finished with an 80 for 227.

A Woman on Relief.

At first this thing I'm saying
May sound beyond belief,
But I think the richest soul I know
Is a woman who's on relief;
One by one the things she's loved
Have somehow passed and gone,
Yet she has evolved a philosophy
Which permits her to carry on.

While others whine about "breaks"
She goes her quiet way,
She has never permitted bitterness
To shadow a single day;
Thru many a long, hard mile,
She somehow or other has managed
To salvage a cheery smile.

I've seen her kneeling at morning mass
With a look of quiet peace
Which made me know that from worldly woe
Her spirit had found release.
She hasn't a penny to call her own,
But I reassert my belief
That the richest soul I think I know
Is that woman who's on relief!

SHEBOYGAN FIVE RALLIES TO BEAT BRUINS, 20 TO 19

Wipes Out Chicago Lead of Ten Points.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Sheboygan Redskins, a band of eccentric backetball players with a haphazard offense, last night took first place in the Western division of the National Basketball league by defeating the Chicago Bruins, 20 to 19, on a last-half rally in the 132d armory. The defeat was the Bruins' first in five home games and dropped them from the divisional lead for the first time this season.

The game was the wildest Bruin fans have witnessed all season, each unsuccessful attempt for a field goal culminating in a football pileup. It was hardly to be called elegant basketball, but proved quite pleasing to the 2,500 who attended.

Free Throws Tell Tale.

Free throws turned out to be the deciding factor, the Bruins missing 12 out of 15 trials, while Sheboygan made good on 8 out of 12. Wibs Kautz of the Bruins had a chance to tie the score with 10 seconds remaining, but the ball hit the back of the hoop's inside and bounced out.

The Redskins started out as tho they were going to be one of those basketball teams which don't make a basket. They didn't make a point in the first period, from which the Bruins emerged with an 8 to 0 lead.

In the second period, Otto Kolar, former west side star, delivered on a free throw and Paul Sokody, late of Marquette, added another. Then, in the 19th minute of play, Sokody flipped in a long shot for Sheboygan's first basket. A free throw by Rube Lautenschlager gave the Redskins a total of 5 points for the half against the Bruins' 15. Out of 30 Sheboygan shots from the floor, only Sokody's was successful in the first half.

Scoreless Last 15 Minutes.

If Sheboygan's offense was mute in the first two periods, the Bruin attack was toned down to a whisper in the final two quarters. Mike Novak scored a short basket to start the half and Kautz and Elmer Johnson then contributed free throws to run the Chicago total to its ultimate 19, not a Bruin point being registered in the final 15 minutes of play.

The invaluable Novak was banished on a fifth foul at the outset of the fourth quarter which the Bruins entered leading, 19 to 14.

Free throws by Kolar and George Hesik brought the Redskins within three points at 19-16. Sokody dropped in a side shot, and then with 75 seconds remaining, Dave Quabius, ex-Marquette guard, made good on a mid floor attempt to send Sheboygan ahead, 20 to 19.

In a preliminary game between two Walther league teams, Salem church of Blue Island defeated St. Mathews of Chicago, 32 to 16.

The Bruins play their next game Wednesday night when they meet Indianapolis on the Armory floor. Lineups:

STRONG BIG SIX QUINTETS INVADE CHICAGO TONIGHT

Games Tonight

BIG TEN.
Iowa at Indiana.
Michigan at Wisconsin.
Ohio State at Purdue.
Northwestern at Minnesota.
Chicago at Illinois.

OTHER GAMES.
Iowa State at Nebraska.
Syracuse at Michigan State.
De Paul and Kansas State in Coliseum.
Bradley at George Washington.
Illinois Wesleyan at Lake Forest.
Elmhurst at De Kalb.
Charleston at Indiana State.
Carthage at Illinois college.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

While Chicago and Northwestern, beaten in their opening Western conference games Saturday night, desert the city to carry their campaign to other centers, two outstanding Big Six quintets from Kansas will furnish an evening of basketball entertainment in the Coliseum tonight. University of Kansas plays Loyola and Kansas State is De Paul's opponent.

General forecast calls for Loyola to lose to Kansas since the Jayhawks are rated, as usual, as one of the best teams in the Big Six conference. Dr. Forrest Allen, veteran coach, has given Kansas the unusual record of 22 conference championships in 29 years. Kansas State, however, already defeated in conference play, can only push De Paul's excellent quintet if the Demons are over confident.

De Paul Beat Good Teams.

De Paul's overtime defeat by Southern California is its only licking and a week ago in the Coliseum De Paul whipped Santa Clara in overtime. Previously De Paul defeated the University of Oregon, national collegiate champion, and also won from Purdue. The Boilermakers opened the Big Ten race Saturday evening by winning from Northwestern, 40 to 29.

Tonight Purdue is host to Ohio State in Lafayette, and in view of the Buckeyes' early season record and opening defeat by Michigan, 40 to 35, the conference champions quite likely will become victim number two for the Boilermakers. Purdue is not a wonder five, altho possibly the fastest quintet in the conference.

Sharp on Free Throws.

The remarkable record of 14 free throws in 15 attempts largely contributed to Purdue's victory over Northwestern. Purdue later meets Indiana, conqueror of Illinois Saturday, 38 to 36, twice and Illinois once. These are first division teams since the Illini played Indiana without Capt. Bill Hapac, high scorer, who was ill with influenza.

There is a rhythm in shooting for the goal in basketball which if placed under pressure of a faster defense becomes erratic. Purdue's players moved so swiftly on defense—as well as on attack—that Northwestern was hard pressed. High scoring Dick Klein, sophomore center, was held to two follow up goals. Only by the long range shots of Bob Shepard, who scored five times, four from a distance, and Ad Vance, was Northwestern able to rally and tie Purdue early in the second half, 19 to 19. Here, however, Purdue speed and replacements—Dan Fisher and Forrest Sprowl, were used alternately—put on two consecutive 8 point rallies.

Wildcats Meet Gophers.

Northwestern plays Minnesota in Minneapolis tonight and the Gophers, with an inaugural victory over Iowa, 42 to 34, probably will be exceedingly tough to lick on their home court. Iowa's preseason record, however, did not indicate that the Hawks should battle the Gophers all the way down the stretch.

Chicago moves to Champaign tonight with the likelihood of meeting a second reverse. The Maroons were beaten in the final minutes by Wisconsin Saturday evening, 20 to 18. The game was comparatively dull as as exhibition of superior basketball, but thrilling in that a tie existed near the end which was broken by Bob Schwartz's spectacular dribble down the court for his sixth and the winning field goal.

Irish Win One.

Iowa moves on to Indiana tonight while Michigan plays at Wisconsin. Indiana and Michigan must be made the favorites in view of their records. The Hoosiers, now that Illinois and Northwestern have been defeated, are the only players in the conference boasting a perfect record.

Beaten by Notre Dame, which snapped its four game losing streak, Syracuse advances to Michigan State on its current trip.

KINNICK MOVES EAST TO GRAB MORE TROPHIES

On his way to new honors and acclaim, Nile Kinnick, Iowa's star half back, who was voted the Chicago Tribune's trophy as the most valuable Big Ten player of the 1939 season, passed thru Chicago yesterday with Dr. Eddie Anderson, head coach. They visited between trains with Judge Michael L. McKinley, Iowa alumnus.

Tonight in Philadelphia Kinnick will receive the Maxwell memorial trophy as the year's most outstanding football player. He will speak at the dinner, as will Anderson. Saturday, in New York, Kinnick and Anderson will be guests of Iowa alumni of that city at the club's annual dinner, and on Jan. 16 Kinnick will receive the Walter Camp memorial trophy in Washington, D. C., as the year's outstanding player.

Honesty Wins for Iowa, Says Prexy Gilmore

in the sincerity of the coaches of all the schools in the Big Ten.

"They don't want to tear down the game," he said. "They know it's too beneficial a thing to spoil."

He remarked that their own coach, Eddie Anderson, takes the attitude he likes to see at Iowa.

"Anderson wants the boys to play the game because they like it. Nobody is trying to make them think they're working to pay off the debt on the stadium or anything like that. They're playing football because they get a lot of fun out of it."

Dr. Gilmore said that no Iowa student is excused from any obligation, scholastic or financial, on the grounds that he is an athlete.

Football Belongs in School.

"So far as jobs are concerned we have a bureau that helps students get employment. But in giving this aid we don't pay any attention to whether the student is an athlete, or a debater or a piano player. Every one is on an equal basis. All you have to do is to look at the proportion of athletes to nonathletes receiving help or special services and you can see that it is practically the same as the proportion which prevails thruout the student body."

And so, all things taken into consideration, Dr. Gilmore thinks football should be a vital element in any university's program. But the price is unrelaxed vigilance on the part of those who direct it.

"All games are educational," he said, "especially football. But there is no doubt that there are commercial forces at work trying to take the game out of the hands of the educators. It's our task to keep control—and I think the game is well worth the effort."

Indiana Team Bowls 4,232 to Win Sweep

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The Bowes Seal Fast bowling team of Indianapolis, winner in 1938, beat out 79 other quintets in the 1940 Ray Schalk five man sweepstakes which ended last night in the Beverly Recreation.

Rolling eight games across four alleys, the Bowes turned in a total of 4,232 on games of 976, 1,175, 1,033, and 1,048, just 12 pins below the record total which the Joseph L. Gills of Chicago rolled in 1939. In taking the $1,000 first prize, the Bowes rolled the highest game in the sweepstakes' history, a 1,175 count in the second game.

Fehr's 906 Is High.

Reversing the 1939 order of finish, the first five teams in the money were from outside Chicago. The Budweisers of the Windy City, Stevenson, and Randolph leagues were Chicago's top team, finishing in sixth place with a 4,017 total. The Linsz Recreations of Cleveland won the $700 second prize with 4,120.

Most of the high bowling was done on the first squad, which rolled Saturday night. The Bowes, Linsz, Collinwood Shales, and Say It With Flowers fives occupied the alleys on that first shift.

One of the highlights of the event was the failure of the Goebel team of Detroit, which under the name of Fife Electrics won the American Bowling Congress title in 1939. The Goebels hit 1,022 on their first game, 1,072 on the second, 1,065 on the third and needing 1,074 to win, fell apart after the fifth frame of the final game. Their final game count was 935.

The only prize captured by a Chicago Classic league team was the $50 special award which went to the team bowling the highest game and finishing outside of the money. It was won by the Monarchs with 1,100.

The Linsz Recreation team of Cleveland, O., compiled a 4,407 total to win the 3d annual Gold Coast recreation sweepstake which came to an end last night. The Ohioans received $1,000 and a trophy.

The Augusta event opens Jan. 15, and the Bergs will not reach there before the second day of the meet. They plan to leave Wednesday by automobile.

Eagles' Soccer Streak Ended by Sparta, 6-1

BY OFFSIDE.

The unbeaten Sparta Falstaffs, playing without three regulars, dealt the American Eagles their first defeat yesterday. The score of the contest, played on a snow covered field in Sparta stadium, was 6 to 1, Jimmy MacDermott accounting for one-half of the winner's goals.

A lucky goal put Sparta into the lead soon after the game started, Stone kicking into his own net in trying to clear. The Eagles tied the score at the eight minute mark as Apostolis slipped thru the Sparta defense. MacDermott then drove in the first of his goals to break the tie and Sparta went on from there to its victory.

MacDermott's second goal near the end of the period sent Sparta to the intermission with a 3 to 1 edge. Sparta was in complete command in the final 45 minutes, building up its score on goals by MacDermott, Art Waldron, and Fraser.

The Sparta Seconds defeated the Eagle Reserves, 6 to 1, in a preliminary. Sparta-Eagles lineup:

KERCHEVAL GIVES UP FOOTBALL TO RUN RACE FARM

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 7 (AP).—Ralph Kercheval, kicking star of the Brooklyn Dodgers professional team, is giving up football for his first love, horsemanship. The former Kentucky half back said he had accepted an offer to help Charles Kinney in the management of Coldstream stud, one of the largest breeding farms in the blue grass.

Kercheval, whose booming punts and long field goals have been valuable assets to the Dodgers for the last half dozen seasons, has been dividing his time between professional football and the horse breeding industry since his graduation from the university in 1934. At the end of each football season he returned to the blue grass and worked at a horse farm until time for him to report for practice the next autumn.

It will be Promoter Irving Schoenwald's first 1940 show.

Al Hostak, middleweight champion, will arrive this morning to start training for a 10 round nontitle bout against Tony Zale of Gary in Chicago Stadium Jan. 19. He will be accompanied by Eddie Marino, his manager, and Nate Druxman, Seattle, Wash., promoter who serves as Hostak's adviser.

The men who will officiate at the eighth annual amateur boxing tournament in the Illinois Athletic club, 112 South Michigan avenue, Jan. 16, 17, and 24 have been appointed by Johnny Behr, I. A. C. sports director. Phil Collins, referee of the light weight championship bout between Sammy Mandell and Rocky Kansas in Comiskey park 14 years ago, is on the list of officials. So is Tommy Thomas, referee of the heavyweight title contest involving Joe Louis and James J. Braddock, also in Comiskey park, June 22, 1937. Other referees will include Freddy Caserio, former Chicago Golden Gloves middleweight champion.

Among the judges will be Livingston E. Osborne, Rube Metz, Ed Hintz, Capt. Romaine A. Goudie, James McManus, John R. Bray, and Frank Gilman. J. J. Lipp, Charles Sidebotham, and William Finn will be the timers. Dr. James K. Stack, the old Notre Dame half mile track champion, will serve as examining physician. Edwin Parkes of the Central A. A. U. will be clerk of weights and drawings.

With still six days remaining in which to enroll the entry list has exceeded all expectations. F. M.

BIETILA BREAKS RECORD TO KEEP HIS SKI TITLE

Oconomowoc, Wis., Jan. 7 (AP).—Walter Bietila of the Wisconsin Hoofers Ski club, Madison, set a new hill record of 126 feet today as he retained his championship in the Milwaukee-Oconomowoc Ski club's annual tournament at Devil's Hollow slide. Bietila of Ishpeming, Mich., topped by eight feet the mark set in 1937 by Lemoine Batson, former Olympian.

Ellsworth Mitchell, Ishpeming, won the Class B title, also surpassing the record with a jump of 120 feet. Vernon Powers, Eau Claire, Wis., took Class C. His best was 118. In the senior division Ole Besserberg of the Norge club, Chicago, and George Johanson, Rockford, Ill., tied on points. Cuttorm Paulson, Norge ace and defending senior champion, fell on his first jump.

Virgil Davis Signs 1940 Contract as New Pirate

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP).—Catcher Virgil [Spud] Davis, first player obtained by Manager Frankie Frisch when he started rebuilding the Pittsburgh Pirates last fall, has signed his 1940 contract, the Pirate management reported today. Davis was purchased from the Phils to add punch to the Pirate catching staff, which last year failed to produce a better than .235 batter. Davis batted .307 for the Phils.

RANGERS DEFEAT DETROIT, 3 TO 0; TAKE 1ST PLACE

Stretch Streak to 17 Games Without Defeat.

New York, Jan. 7 (AP).—The New York Rangers came within a contest of tying the National Hockey league record for consecutive games without a defeat tonight by beating the Detroit Red Wings, 3 to 0, before 12,368.

Unbeaten since mid-November, the Rangers now have put together a string of five ties and 12 victories. They need only to tie or beat the Chicago Blackhawks here Thursday to equal the mark set by the Montreal Canadiens in 1928. They play in Toronto Saturday.

Held scoreless for one period by the last place Wings, the Rangers untracked themselves to get one goal in the second period and two more on superb passing plays in the final 20 minutes. The second period goal by Kilby MacDonald, who drove home a rebound of his own shot, would have been enough with Dave Kerr's excellent goal tending.

Babe Pratt got the second goal after 13 minutes of the third period and Bryan Hextall the third less than four minutes later. The victory gave the Rangers first place, two points ahead of Boston and Toronto. Lineups:

Boston, Mass., Jan. 7 (AP).—Boston tied idle Toronto for second place in the National Hockey league tonight by defeating the New York Americans before 10,000.

New York scored first, but once Boston started clicking near the end of the first period there was never any doubt over the outcome. The Bruins' youthful Kitchener line made three of the six goals. HORNET, C. Y. O. SIXES TRIUMPH IN ROUGH GAMES

Nineteen penalties were called, seven of them five minute majors for fighting, in two rough games played in the Amateur Hockey league in the Chicago Arena yesterday as the Chicago Hornets dealt the Planerts a 6 to 1 defeat and the C. Y. O. Shamrocks beat Pepsi-Cola, 4 to 3.

The individual efforts of the Planert forwards proved no match for the smooth, fast passing attack of the Hornets. The winners scored three goals in the first period and never were headed. Monty Wells got two goals.

The C. Y. O.-Pepsi-Cola game was hard fought from start to finish. Grossman, Ellison, Coleman and Savela scored for the C. Y. O., with Teevin, Janelle and Merrill getting the Pepsi-Cola scores.

Learn GOLF'S MOST POWERFUL SWING — TRIPLE POWER
Originated 40 years ago by Waverly Horton and kept a secret in order to hold the reputation as being the wonder drive. Relay of three snaps, centripetal and centrifugal forces, all working in conjunction with each other, works like the shift of gears, each adding much more snap and force as it relays.
With this combination the force of the impact with the ball is terrific. A few of the great many long drives made by Waverly Horton with the Triple Power Swing:
BRIARGATE—365 YARDS, 2nd hole, on green.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

A. F. OF L. BLASTS PLAN TO EXTEND TRADE TREATIES

Demands End of 22 Now in Force.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor today voiced opposition to extension of the administration's reciprocal trade agreements program in its present form and demanded also that all existing agreements be repudiated.

Mathew Woll.

With the fight over the question of extending the trade law scheduled to start this week, the wage earners' protective conference, tariff group of the A. F. of L., sent letters to all senators and representatives asking:

1. Repudiation of all treaties with foreign nations which "have not, as the constitution specifically requires, been ratified by the senate." [Under the trade act, the agreements are not subject to ratification, and supporters of the law maintain that they are not treaties within the meaning of the constitutional provision. The A. F. of L. group, however, contends that they are treaties.]

Would Equalize Prices.

2. Excise taxes on all foreign produced competitive products sufficient to make the delivered cost in this country equal to the cost of similar domestic products.

3. Extension to foreign produced competitive products of the restrictions of the fair labor standards, denying entry in interstate commerce to goods produced under substandard conditions. The present standards are a minimum wage of 30 cents an hour and a maximum work week of 42 hours, unless overtime is paid.

The conference is headed by Matthew Woll, president of the International Photo Engravers' union and a vice president of the A. F. of L.

The first step in the administration's fight to renew the trade act will come tomorrow when Representative Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee, will introduce a resolution to extend it for three years from next June 12. Doughton's committee will open hearings Thursday with Secretary of State Cordell Hull as the first witness.

New Issue in Fight.

The A. F. of L. request for repudiation of existing agreements brought a new issue into the controversy as the 22 agreements already negotiated will continue, even after expiration of the trade law, unless congress takes action to end them.

There are indications, however, that the major issue in what looms as a momentous congressional battle will be the question of whether the agreements should be subject to senate ratification.

Republican opponents of the law have indicated that they will base their campaign chiefly on that point, and they are expected to be joined by some Democrats doubtful of the constitutionality of the present act.

Pittman Doubts Legality.

Among those who have taken this attitude is Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee. "Unless these agreements are ratified by the senate, it is my opinion they are unconstitutional," he told reporters.

Supporters of the trade pact have opposed senate ratification of the agreements contending this would hamstring the program and lead to "log-rolling" and lobbying by sectional and industrial interests.

Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.] spoke out tonight in opposition to extension of the trade agreements act, contending in a radio address that the program was "taking away from the American farmer enough of his American market to drive farm prices down to a point where the American farmer's purchasing power is seriously impaired."

STEEL OUTPUT REBOUNDS FROM HOLIDAY SLUMP

America's steel production rebounded last week to 86.5 per cent of theoretical capacity, the magazine Steel said yesterday, restoring the rate to only four points below that prevailing before the holidays.

"Mills as a whole," the publication said, "can see near capacity business for the full first quarter and in some cases for practically all of the first half of the year."

NLRB Rejects A. F. L. in Hard Coal Industry

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7 [Special].—The National Labor Relations board tonight held, in effect, that the approximately 115,000 anthracite miners employed by 202 Pennsylvania operators constitute a single appropriate unit for collective bargaining.

The board's ruling specifically was to dismiss the petition of the Progressive Mine Workers of America [A. F. of L.] for certification as a collective bargaining agency to represent the employés of the Stevens Coal company and Alden Coal company, Pennsylvania operators. Its petition was opposed by the United Mine Workers of America [C. I. O.].

Old Control Remains.

Result of the ruling was to leave untouched the 40 year old region-wide bargaining unit—the Pennsylvania anthracite operators and the United Mine Workers of America.

William Green, president of the A. F. of L., declared the ruling a "blow at democracy." Green said it was "contrary to the vital principles of the [Wagner] act, which was designed to confer upon workers the right to select their own bargaining representatives.

"We are convinced that the full benefit of their right to self-organization and to collective bargaining cannot be insured to the employés by breaking up the collective bargaining unit which has been established by a long history of contractual relations between the operators and miners of the anthracite region," the ruling said.

Not Suitable, Says Ruling.

"We find that the single mine unit urged by the Progressives is not appropriate for the purposes of collective bargaining."

The Progressives also had contended that, under the region-wide bargaining system, the operators had not formed any association to which had been delegated employer functions for purposes of collective bargaining. To this, the board replied:

"By custom and usage they [the operators] have acted in unison in matters concerning collective bargaining for so long a period that in reality they are so closely, if not more closely, bound together than they would be had their obligations and conduct been governed solely by formal legal ties."

CHICAGO BUSINESS MEN PLAN TO GAIN TRADE WITH LATIN AMERICA

Steps in the campaign of the Chicago Association of Commerce to promote Chicago trade in Latin American markets were announced yesterday by C. M. Wynne, the association's vice president of foreign commerce.

The first move will be to place in American export journals advertisments illustrating Chicago buildings and inviting foreign business men to investigate the city's advantages as a source of supply. Copies of the advertisments will be distributed among Chicago exporters so they may inclose them in Latin American mail.

Later the association will distribute in Latin America about 15,000 copies of a new Spanish edition of a directory of Chicago exporters.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7 (AP).—The national mediation board said in its annual report today that it went thru the fiscal year 1939 without having to deal with a railroad strike and with only one strike on an airline. The board is charged with the duty of mediating employer-employé disputes in the railroad and airline industries when direct negotiations have failed.

FARMERS OFFER MORE CORN FOR FEDERAL LOANS

Half of Borrowings Are Defaulted.

Farmers are pledging liberal quantities of cash corn as security for government loans, it was reported yesterday. A department of agriculture estimate indicated that possibly as much grain may be pledged this season as in the preceding year, when loans were made on 230,000,000 bushels at 57 cents a bushel, a rate which is continued this season.

A total of 278,000,000 bushels of corn was sealed under the "ever normal granary" program on Dec. 15, 1939, the department reported. Of this 66,000,000 bushels were owned by the Commodity Credit corporation. The grain was obtained by the federal agency thru defaults by farmers on loans made on the 1937 and 1938 crops.

Half of Loans Defaulted.

Farmers defaulted on about half of the government loans made on the 1937 and 1938 crops, the department estimated, altho officials figures may not be given for several months. A total of 120,000,000 bushels is expected to be owned outright by the Commodity Credit corporation when all the returns are in, and 137,000,000 bushels are estimated to have been resealed on farms.

Grain features averaged higher during the last week as the result of a moderate revival in the export demand for corn and a severe cold wave over the winter wheat belt. The extreme cold, it is feared, may result in additional damage to the new crop and offset the effect of recent beneficial moisture.

Clearance Sales Swell Chicago Trade Volume

Favorable response to January clearance sales helped swell Chicago's business volume last week and keep it above the level of the first week of 1939, the Chicago Association of Commerce said yesterday. Cold weather boosted the sale of winter merchandise.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

BUDD WHEEL.

I read the other day that the Budd Wheel Company obtained a war department order for shells. Is this company equipped for that type of production? I would like some information on the firm's operations. What are the dividend provisions?—J. S.

Answer: Budd Wheel company manufactures steel wheels, hubs, brakes, brake drums, and wheel assemblies for automobiles, trucks, and buses. It is one of the three leading firms in the field.

In an effort to diversify its production and reduce its dependency on the automotive industry, the company has developed a new railroad brake for high speed trains and an electrical method of hardening internal surfaces of ferrous metals.

Military orders in the past have been almost solely for artillery wheels. The company has facilities for forging and tooling steel, which are adaptable to the manufacture of shells. The ordnance division of the war department recently ordered $376,000 worth of shells from the firm.

Budd Wheel is affiliated with the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company, which makes steel automobile bodies and railroad cars. Both firms have plants in Detroit, Mich., on property which they lease jointly.

Capitalization of Budd Wheel consists of 4,433 shares of 7 to 10 per cent cumulative participating preferred stock of $100 par value, and 965,258 shares of no par common stock.

Dividends on the common stock were not paid after 1931, except for disbursements of 20 cents a share each in 1936 and 1937. Regular dividends on the preferred stock have been paid since 1936, and participating dividends of $1 a share were added in each year from 1936 thru 1938. In 1935 dividends on the preferred totaled $24.50 a share, which included arrears accumulated in the two preceding years.

The preferred stock is entitled to cumulative dividends of $7 a year and participating dividends of $1 a share if net operating revenues were between $600,000 and $800,000 in the preceding year, $2 if they were between $800,000 and $1,000,000, and $3 if $1,000,000 or more. No cash dividend may be paid on the common stock except out of surplus earned after 1925 and only when current assets are at least twice current liabilities.

	Operating income	Net income	Earned per share
1934	$584,000	$112,000	$0.06
1935	1,403,000	784,000	0.75
1936	1,452,000	796,000	0.78
1937	1,532,000	619,000	0.60
1938	*111,000	*461,000	*0.52

*Loss.

Net income in the first nine months of 1939 was $310,035, equal after preferred dividends to 30 cents a common share. This contrasted with net loss of $588,245 in the corresponding period of 1938.

AMERICAN GAS PUTS BIG LOAN AND STOCK ISSUE ON MARKET

The extensive financing program of American Gas and Electric company will get under way today with the public offering of $30,000,000 of sinking fund debentures and the simultaneous offering by the company of 355,623 shares of 4¾ per cent cumulative preferred stock to the holders of outstanding $6 preferred stock under an exchange offer. Stock not required for exchange is offered publicly. Bonbright & Co. leads the 104 investment firms making the offering.

The debentures consist of three series—$8,000,000 of 2¾s, due 1950, priced at 102½, $10,000,000 of 3½s, due 1960, priced at 103½, and $12,000,000 of 3¾s, due 1970, priced at 103½.

Under the company's offer, which remains open until Jan. 10, holders of outstanding $6 preferred stock have the privilege of exchanging their stock on a share for share basis, plus a cash payment equal to the difference between the redemption price of the old preferred stock, $110, and the public offering price of the new stock, $105.

Home Furnishing Trade Expects Business Rise

The home furnishings industry, in emerging from the "indifference" of the 1930s, is prepared for a new decade of progress, Percy Wilson, managing director of the Merchandise Mart, declared yesterday. Exhibitions opening today in connection with the International Home Furnishings Market at the Merchandise Mart will be attended by about 11,000 buyers from all parts of the country, he said.

RUBBER FIRM DEAL IS FOUGHT BY REP. CASEY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7 (AP).—Representative Casey [D., Mass.] demanded today that the justice department institute proceedings against the United States Rubber company "to the end that it may be dissolved into independent operating companies."

In a letter to Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, Casey also asked that "direct action" be taken against Dillon, Read & Co., Boston and New York brokerage house, "for collusive acts to eliminate the independence of the Fisk Rubber company."

Casey said his request was aimed at preventing the United States Rubber company from "absorbing" the Fisk company, which has plants at Chicopee and New Bedford, Mass., employing 3,300 persons. Casey said that "the United States Rubber company now is bent on destroying another independent enterprise."

REGISTER 1,000 COMPLAINTS ON JOBS EACH WEEK

Wage-Hour Bureau to Expand Staff.

Washington, Jan. 7 (AP).—The wage-hour administration told congress today that complaints of wage-hour law violations were pouring in at the rate of 1,000 a week, and that it was confronted with a task "far beyond" its resources in trying to investigate the 15,547 already received.

The wage-hour board's report disclosed it is planning to increase the number of field inspectors from 290 to 700 by June, and indicated it may institute a policy of regular inspections of the 250,000 employing establishments coming under the law.

"At present about 250,000 establishments are subject to the provisions of the act," the report said. "In order to be sure that all employers are on a fair competitive basis in respect to compliance, it is desirable to carry out systematic inspections in all these establishments."

The report indicated that in the early stages of administration in 1938 complaints arrived at the rate of 500 a week and the average inspector was able to complete only about one inspection every two weeks. The "desired goal," the report said, is one inspection every four days by each inspector.

According to German caption, this picture shows the explosion of a time bomb placed by Germans aboard a British patrol trawler after they had captured the vessel "somewhere in the North sea." The caption said that the crew of the vessel had been removed before the blast.

This photograph, taken shortly after the one at top, according to the German caption, shows the British trawler sinking to the accompaniment of exploding boilers. Cable reports from Europe yesterday indicated a renewal of sinkings in the war zone after a period of comparative calm.
